October 22, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Borolux Bakeware has recently announced that their shatterproof bakeware has reached the number one ranking spot on the Amazon marketplace for its category. Released just a few months ago, the bakeware has hundreds of combined reviews from customers. Aside from the company's classic pie dish, they have also released a 9 x 13 baking dish, which they state can be used for lasagna and casseroles. Customers apparently agree. One customer states, "Very well made baking dish. I was impressed by the thickness of the glass and how heavy it is."

The bakeware is made from borosilicate glass, which makes it completely shatterproof, even when transferring from a hot oven to a cool counter. The company states that they specifically designed all of their baking dish products to be a safer alternative to other brands that are not made from borosilicate glass.

One Amazon customer states, "This baking dish is made with special glass called borosilicate, which is the same material that laboratory test tubes and beakers are made from. It is totally shatter-proof even at 650 degrees Fahrenheit, thus making this ideal for high temperature cooking. Plus Borolux bakeware is freezer, microwave, oven and dishwasher safe."

Borolux Bakeware states that all of their products, such as the 9x13 baking dish, are made in the United States, another fact that customers find to be very appealing. One customer states that this is the main reason she purchased the dish, and that she was pleasantly surprised by the high quality of the thicker glass.

Borolux designs their products with consumer safety in mind, according to a company spokesperson. They state that the number of consumers who are injured every year, and sent to emergency rooms due to baking dishes exploding or shattering when removing them from the oven, is the main reason behind their line of safer bakeware.

More about Borolux, including a complete listing of the shatter-proof bakeware that they offer, can be seen on the company's official website.
