Fort Lauderdale, FL - The Source Addiction Treatment Center in Fort Lauderdale is home to world-class alcohol and drug rehab treatment. The quality of care, the serene facility and the genuine compassion provided all set The Source apart in the field of behavioral healthcare. The staff strives to make sure everyone who reaches out to them for help receives the guidance and support they deserve. Whether they become clients or not, The Source makes sure that everyone who contacts them feels valued and welcomed and finds the help they need.

Occasionally someone reaches out for help and it?s determined that The Source is not the best possible provider for that person?s needs. In these cases, The Source works to help them find a trusted provider that is the right fit for them. The Source team is guided by their mission to give people the best possible chance of transforming their lives rather than focusing on their bottom line. This level of integrity can be hard to come by in the addiction treatment space and it exemplifies how The Source upholds their code of ethics to provide the best possible care for all.

A Fort Lauderdale woman by the name of Stacey recently inquired about treatment for her son and shared her experience in a 5-star Google review. She said, ?I reached out to Randy from The Source Treatment Center after determining that my son needed ?mental health? rather than addiction treatment. I was so fortunate that Randy was able to use his relationships with outside trusted partners to help my son get the proper level of treatment he needed. He also went so far as to visit my son (45 minutes away) and consult with his therapist when there was a crisis. He is amazing!! I am so thankful for The Source for allowing Randing to reach out to someone in desperate need, regardless of whether they were a client of The Source. I want to say this...If Randy will do this much for someone who is not his client, I can only imagine the level of care and determination he commits to a client in his facility...it would be as amazing, if not more. Thank you The Source!?

Being able to coordinate care for any person in need is something that The Source takes great pride in. They aim to positively contribute to the community around them and to help anyone in need who is ready to move forward in recovery. Having vetted and trusted partnerships within the recovery and mental healthcare community means that The Source can make a positive impact in a person?s life by connecting them with the best possible provider for their needs.

?Our approach is to work through the pain with you, love you when no one else will, and help you on your way to a life that is filled with hope and joy beyond your wildest dreams,? said Mark Korcok, Founder and CEO of The Source.
