Long Island, NY-- Being charged with criminal activity in New York can have serious consequences. Few know this better than Long Island DWI lawyer Jason Bassett. The effects of being convicted of a crime could be severe and can in some cases even change the trajectory of an individual's entire life. Mr. Bassett believes that nobody should face the criminal justice system alone and without the benefit of a skilled and experienced criminal defense lawyer.

As an experienced DWI lawyer, Mr. Bassett understands that the quality of defense that a person gets after they are charged with a crime can make a significant difference. Whether the charges get dismissed, downgraded, a plea deal is offered to the defendant, or if they wind up in prison or jail and for what length of time, can often depend upon the work of their defense lawyer. Whether a person has been charged with robbery, assault, murder, domestic violence, or perhaps a DWI or DUI, a criminal charge and conviction can haunt them for years to come. This is why it is vital to have the representation of someone with the knowledge, experience, and perseverance to fight for the offender's rights.

"While criminal penalties and jail time are difficult enough, the way criminal charges and convictions affect the rest of that defendant's life can be equally disastrous," said Mr. Bassett. "A defendant can be penalized and serve their time, and yet for the rest of their life, there is a reminder that they are still thought of a criminal in the eyes of society. A criminal charge can affect a person's future work, educational opportunities, professional licenses and accreditations, and involvement in specific federal government programs. Each time that individual applies for a task, the prospective employer will take a look at them in a different way. A well-crafted criminal defense is crucial to protect my customers not just from the criminal penalty itself but also these other long-lasting collateral effects."

A former prosecutor, Mr. Bassett has witnessed the other side of the criminal justice and the way numerous defendants feel they lack power within the system. He has since turned his sights to criminal defense so as to help level the playing field and safeguard the rights of those who have been charged with a crime at either the state and federal levels. Both clients and other attorneys continue to provide positive reviews and testimonials concerning their work together.

Cummings Nelsen from Long Island states: "Jason Bassett did an amazing job with my criminal case. Extremely pleased with his representation. My case got dismissed! Thank you!"

In the legal justice system, an offender has essential rights under the law, and it is the criminal defense lawyer's task to uphold those rights. With over 21 years in the criminal justice system, Mr. Bassett has committed his practice to secure the rights of his clients in and out of the courtroom.
