Long Island, NY-- Being charged with a criminal offense in New York can have severe repercussions. Few know this better than Long Island criminal lawyer Jason Bassett. The effects of being convicted of a crime could be dire and can sometimes even alter the trajectory of a person's whole life. Mr. Bassett believes that no one must face the criminal justice system on their own and without the benefit of a skilled and experienced criminal defense lawyer.

As a knowledgeable criminal lawyer, Mr. Bassett understands that the quality of criminal defense that a person gets after they are charged with a criminal offense can make a big difference. Whether the charges get dismissed, downgraded, a plea deal is presented, or if they end up in jail or prison and for what length of time, can frequently depend on the work of their defense lawyer. Whether an individual has been charged with break-in, assault, murder, domestic violence, or perhaps a DWI or DUI, a criminal charge and conviction can haunt them for years to come. This is why it is crucial to have the representation of someone with the knowledge, experience, and perseverance to fight for the defendant's rights.

"Although criminal penalties and jail time are tough enough, the way criminal charges and convictions affect the rest of that defendant's life can be equally disastrous," stated Mr. Bassett. "An offender can be punished and serve their time, and yet for the rest of their life, there is a reminder that they are still thought of a criminal in society's eyes. A criminal charge can impact an individual's future employment, academic options, professional licenses and accreditations, and participation in particular government programs. Each time that individual requests a job, the potential company will look at them in a different way. A well-crafted criminal defense is critical to safeguard my clients not just from the criminal punishment itself but also these other long-term collateral consequences."

A former district attorney, Mr. Bassett has witnessed the other side of the criminal justice system and the way numerous defendants feel they are without power within the system. He has turned his sights to criminal defense so as to help level the playing field and safeguard the rights of those who may have been charged at both the federal or state level. Both clients and other attorneys continue to offer positive reviews and testimonials when it comes to their work together.

Mraz Kirstie from Long Island states: "Mr. Bassett was very good in all aspects. I would recommend him to anyone in a heartbeat. He treated me like I was family and was really sincere. He really did not sugarcoat anything and was honest from the get-go. He is very knowledgeable and knows exactly how to handle your DWI case. A very caring guy that does everything he can for his clients. I highly, highly recommend it."

In the legal justice system, a defendant has crucial rights under the law, and it is the criminal defense attorney's job to uphold those rights. With more than twenty-one years in the criminal justice system, Mr. Bassett has dedicated his practice to safeguarding the rights of his clients in and out of the courtroom.
