November 09, 2021

November 09, 2021 -
Vancouver, BC based Vancouver Volkswagen recently held the official grand opening of its newly imaged 'white frame' facility. This prestigious event follows on the heels of a rebrand that took place in the summer of 2021, and it was attended by the dealership?s new owners as well as President & CEO Volkswagen Group Canada Pierre Boutin, among other executives from Volkswagen Canada.

New owners Sjon Wynia and Bob Aaltonen look forward to working with the team at Vancouver Volkswagen to continue delivering the exemplary service their community has come to expect. For over 60 years, Vancouver Volkswagen has a reputation for excellence and unparalleled customer service. ?As many of our existing clientele are already aware,? Chris Lane of Vancouver Volkswagen states, ?we offer both new and used Volkswagen cars, trucks and SUVs to everyone in Vancouver and beyond. Despite the change in ownership and rebranding, we are delighted to affirm that our team remains staffed with the same great professionals who have shown so much commitment and dedication to our customers over the years. Please don?t hesitate to reach out to our representatives and sales team today for more information on our massive Volkswagen inventory or to learn more about our financing options.?

The grand opening took place during what some may call an aspirational time for Volkswagen, which recently brought the long-awaited 2021 Volkswagen ID.4 to Canada. This fully electric vehicle (EV) was voted 2021 World Car of the Year by an international panel of journalists, and this recognition is proof of Volkswagen?s ability to keep their eye on the future and innovate in accordance with the market?s evolving demands. Local drivers have already been testing out this SUV?s promises for themselves, and the dealership is proud to report that customers have been as impressed with its advanced technology as with their purchasing experience.

Sandra W. shares in a recent Google review, ?My husband and I went into Vancouver Volkswagen to check out the new ID.4 electric car. We were greeted by AK, who took time to listen to our needs. He took us on a test drive while explaining all the features and technology of this brand new fully electric SUV. After we finished the test drive, AK highlighted the car?s exterior features. Later, he showed us the roomy interior, and the decision to purchase an ID.4 became a very easy one... With AK?s guidance and recommendations, we put an order for an ID.4. AK is professional, polite, knowledgeable and easy to deal with. Generally, it was a great experience shopping at Vancouver Volkswagen, and we are looking forward to taking possession of the ID.4.?

The dealership is equally welcoming to new and existing customers alike. As another customer?s review explains, ?This was my first visit to Vancouver Volkswagen. I was greeted by this very friendly gentleman, Kevin. He went through all the details about the car I was looking for. His product knowledge was exceptional. Explained everything in detail, and he was very professional. This was my best experience in a dealership, hands down. I highly recommend Kevin for anyone who is looking to buy a Volkswagen. Overall, this experience was more than great. It was excellent.?

Many manufacturers have been aware for some time that the world is moving swiftly into an electric future where most vehicles ? and perhaps even all of them ? will be powered by electricity rather than traditional fossil fuels. Volkswagen, however, has also understood that such vehicles would need to serve a distinct, practical purpose that makes the move to EV transport make sense for the average consumer. Building on this, the ID.4 was designed to be affordable, functional and fun to drive ? without sacrificing form for function. As a result, the ID.4 boasts state-of-the-art advancements in both style and comfort, making its luxurious interior and smooth ride the perfect complement to its sheer power and everyday versatility.
