

Leading Orange County HVAC, Plumbing, Electrical Company Grows With Demand

November 08, 2021

November 08, 2021 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Baltimore, MD - Excalibur Air Heating Plumbing Electrical respond to growing customer demand with more employees, locations, and willingness to help.

When the owner of Excalibur Air Heating Plumbing Electrical, Brian Vardiman, first opened his doors for business 20 years ago (formerly known as Best Service), it didn't take him long to understand the importance of being ready to meet the client's needs as quickly as possible, without sacrificing the quality of service. Fast forward to 2021, this leading Orange County plumbing, electrical, and HVAC provider is still growing to meet the unique challenges of residents and commercial property owners throughout the region. In fact, Excalibur has just opened a new location in Corona, CA, where Brian Vardiman says he has wished to serve that city more fully for some time.

"We are always looking for new ways to stay caught up with our client's ever-growing needs," Vardiman says. "We have serviced Corona for many years now, and as that area continues to grow and as we continually are spending more and more resources sending our people into that area, it was finally time to set down roots in the city so we can be ready at a moment's notice."

Clients are welcome to take advantage of Excalibur's 24/7 emergency response service, with well-experienced staff (each averaging 15 years of service) ready to handle a wide variety of plumbing, electrical, or HVAC issues.

Of course, Excalibur Air Heating Plumbing Electrical is not just known for its peerless 24/7 services. The company is a leading expert on nearly every kind of plumbing, heating, and air, electrical, and plumbing issue or question that exists, and is an absolute authority on designing and implementing solutions that exceed client expectations. This includes consultations, design and installation, and repairs. Whatever the type of service, Excalibur offers complete and comprehensive service and works hard to maintain transparent communication throughout the entire job.

“Our commitment to our clients’ needs are absolute,” Vardiman says. “We understand the panic that set in after a plumbing disaster is discovered, or the AC unit fails in the middle of a heatwave. Our team empathizes because we all deal with the same issues as well, so for us, this is more than just about running and growing a business. We exist to serve the community we all share, and we’re lucky enough that we make a living at it as well.”
