Denver, CO - South Lincoln Street facility allows the company to build on peerless service, support.

When Denver-based High 5 Plumbing opened its second location at 8000 South Lincoln Street in June of 2021, it was a great relief for the company to be able to provide more direct service to the southern part of the city. Now, the High 5 team can react instantly to any plumbing emergency or need in a fraction of the time it did before opening the Littleton facility. Since the second branch opened its doors, High 5 Plumbing owners Levi and Cassi Torres say they've received very positive feedback from the Littleton community.

"We thought about starting a second location for a long time, and we felt Littleton really was the place to do it," Cassi Torres says. "We're really encouraged by the response from our clients, and it really did end up being a great business decision. We can react so much faster and deliver results and solutions in record time compared to months past. Giving our exceptional team members a platform to reach out to clients more efficiently is also a huge benefit, and it makes our staff's jobs so much easier as well."

High 5 Plumbing employs a highly skilled team of tradespeople with a wide variety of skillsets. This allows the company to offer a complete, comprehensive level of service and is thus a one-stop shop for any type of plumbing need. Their services include everything from general repair and maintenance, drain cleaning, piping and re-piping, water line replacement, pump plumbing, water heater repair and maintenance, and so much more.

Regardless of whatever the issue may be, High 5 Plumbing is more than equipped to get the job done. Their quoting process is quick and transparent, as is the way their team members tackle any job.

"We never want clients to be concerned we can't help them," Torres says. "We are only ever one phone call away, and we even have an online chat service on our website. It literally does not matter what the issue or question may be, and it does not matter what time of day the question is asked. High 5 Plumbing is always there, and we are always ready to help.?
