Their team of NDIS cleaners have been especially trained and instructed to always provide their clients with all kinds of support and care. They are committed to providing the necessary assistance to NDIS participants and people with disabilities throughout Australia with effective house cleaning and management services.

Stephen Matthews, commercial cleaning manager at Clean Group Sydney, says, "We are a comprehensive NDIS cleaning service provider that will take care of all your cleaning needs at your home, office, or other properties. Our cleaners are specifically instructed and trained to provide you with every kind of support and take care of your comfort in all conditions. We will ensure not to disrupt your regular operations while doing our cleaning work. First of all, they offer general home cleaning, which has to be done regularly to make sure that NDIS clients always have a clean and safe living space for themselves and their family. They offer affordable and efficient basic home cleaning services to those who are incapable or don't have the time to clean.

Thus, carpets need to be subjected to vacuum and steam cleaning at regular intervals to get rid of all those dirt and debris to provide clean and safe environment for NDIS clients, children, family members, and pets.

Fourth, Clean Group Sydney can also provide laundry cleaning services. This is a regular household task that may also be a challenge for people with disabilities. Thus, this is included in their NDIS services. Their team of NDIS cleaners will regularly machine wash clothes, blankets, sheets, blinds, and more.

Fifth, they also offer end of lease cleaning for NDIS clients who are moving to a newly leased house. Their cleaners are knowledgeable and experienced on the kind of cleaning that is required by NDIS clients before they move to their new home.

And finally, Clean Group Sydney offers decluttering services. This ensures that everything will be in order in the kitchen, library, living room, bathroom, etc. This ensures that NDIS clients will find it easy to find and access things that they need because the house is properly arranged.
