November 11, 2021

November 11, 2021 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

November 2021 (Sydney, NSW)?- Fastfit Automotive Specialist now offer to ship Australia wide. Customers can purchase bullbars, accessories and any other products through their website today. They ship Australia wide with Australia Post eParcel, TNT and or courier services for bulky items. Standard shipping orders will be dispatched from their warehouse within five business days of receipt of payment - shipping time is an additional three to six business days from dispatch date. This will help those customers who cannot visit their physical stores, they can now purchase products, and the company will take care of the shipment.

They have a shipment policy and procedure for everyone who wants to purchase via the website. First, the customer will get an email the day of dispatch - buyers should assure that they put their email address precisely to keep an eye out for their shipment. Next is Australia Post will email the buyer with their eParcel tracking number and any scans from the company to the customer. The third is that the customer has to verify that their PayPal account has the RIGHT address - the company must pay to have the package returned to them when they have supplied the wrong information, and they will require the buyer shipping re-post.

Generally, the company dispatch within five working days of order, and Australia Post specifies that it takes three to six business days to deliver. The buyer needs to monitor their package for its whereabouts within a week of ordering and check out if the parcel is sitting at the Local Post Office for pick up. Due to all packages asking for a signature upon delivery, the Fastfit staff cannot drop a note for the postman stating the parcel can be left at the door/behind the gate/ etc. It will be delivered and then transferred to the Local Post Office for collection. Orders acquired before 8 am on a business day with Express postage will be dispatched from Fastfit's warehouse on the same day - with scheduled delivery the next business day. Orders received after 8 am will be sent the next business day.

The management of Fastfit Bullbars is pleased to offer shipping nationally with this simple procedure. They want all of their customers across Australia to be able to purchase items from them locally. Customers will be able to save on time and money with the service that they supply.
