BALTIMORE, MD - November 12, 2021 - PRESSADVANTAGE -
Clipper Construction, a construction company based in Baltimore, has opened a new office in the Locust Point neighborhood. The firm has long prioritized customer service, and the new workplace will enable them to provide their community better. Those looking to find their office can visit https://www.google.com/maps?cid=1837261123079227224. The address is 1354 Cooksie St, Baltimore, MD 21230 and can be found down the street from Fort McHenry.

"Employees at Clipper Construction have long maintained high levels of quality in their service, and the opening of an office is only another way that they are striving to better client satisfaction. We have already received wonderful feedback from our customers regarding our new location," said Evan Roberts, the Managing Partner at Clipper Construction.

Customer satisfaction, according to the firm, is a major priority. Clipper Construction has made it a point to keep their customers satisfied, and the new office helps them maintain that. Their company goals can be found at https://rebrand.ly/baltimorebuilder. With the creation of a new headquarters in Baltimore, the firm aims to boost its level of service for the Baltimore community.

Clipper Construction has operated in Baltimore for over a decade, providing commercial construction services to the city. Clipper Construction is aware that each commercial building project is unique. Their highly skilled and insured workers are here to provide their clients with top-notch expert workmanship for all of their requirements, from minor maintenance jobs to full new construction, including pre-construction, design, and engineering services.

In addition, Clipper Construction has a range of facility management services that include routine equipment and building maintenance to complete project turnkey.

"We have been providing top-notch service for years, and the creation of our new headquarters only means that we will be able to continue doing what we do best for our clients," said Roberts.

For a variety of reasons, one of which is the high quality of their workmanship, Clipper Construction is an excellent choice for any kind of commercial construction project. The company provides quality service in areas like roofing, carpentry, painting, flooring, and more. Clipper Construction specializes in working with commercial small businesses and other firms in the Baltimore region.

Clipper Construction offers services from pre-construction and design to commercial general contracting. Their expertise covers a wide range of construction industries and they work to provide complete customer satisfaction for each job. Their experience includes medical, restaurants, retail, warehouses, laboratories, multi-family, and office buildouts.

Clipper Construction's unique selling proposition is its ability to develop and adopt technologies that lower expenses while still providing an outstanding customer experience. Their custom client portal enables clients to examine drawings and modify orders, as well as track the progress of their project and pay invoices online. Clipper Construction also uses 360-degree image technology on all of its projects.

They consider their construction firm to be much more than simply a source of value for their clients; they also see it as a way to give back to the Baltimore community. Joining with the neighbors is an important component of how Clipper Construction may continue to develop and expand into new areas around Baltimore.

Clipper Construction's objective is to satisfy their customer's construction demands as promptly, efficiently, and effectively as possible, no matter what it takes. They realize that each organization's construction needs are different, which is why they are dedicated to listening attentively to their customers' comments. They will go above and above in order to make sure the customer's vision comes to life on the project, whether it be new building or restoration of existing structures.
