DrinkFit Smoothie has revamped its e-commerce platform to focus on work-from-home customers. DrinkFit is a company that allows entrepreneurs to establish a smoothie juice bar business. They supply the smoothie juice bar product and installations for business operators that offer low sugar but delicious smoothies for consumers. This particular business is suitable for fitness centers, gyms, family centers, cafeterias, student recreation centers, universities, concessions, and more. Meanwhile, they are now also considering work-from-home customers and have made the necessary adjustments to their e-commerce platform. More information about the business opportunity can be gleaned from <https://drinkfit.com/business/>.

First of all, work from home employees will need to keep fit by performing workouts at home. They can use the DrinkFit Smoothie in the same way that people going to the gym use it as a recovery drink, providing rehydration and protein with low sugar. An important advantage is convenience since all that is needed by the work from home employee is a blender to enjoy a delicious but low sugar workout recovery drink.

It is important to note that most smoothies, sports drinks, and packaged juice drinks are loaded with sugar, containing as much as 50 to 80 grams of sugar. In contrast, the DrinkFit Smoothie does not use artificial sweeteners, such as sucralose or aspartame. Instead, it uses natural stevia and the small amount of sugar, which is about 14 grams, comes from fructose, which is the natural sugar from fruits, and not sucrose. This means there would be no blood sugar spike and therefore it is a drink that is safe for diabetics. Real fruit concentrate is used and there are no artificial sweeteners, high-fructose corn syrup, fats, gluten, soy, and lactose. And it is assured to be kosher and vegan.

And also vital for the those working out, including those who are focused on home fitness, the smoothies contain protein from whey and not from dairy. The whey protein offers that cream base to provide the desired smoothie body and texture. Each drink contains 20 grams of protein.

DrinkFit also ensures that they are environmentally-friendly. Packaging for the various ingredients use biodegradable PET and HDPE. And they also take time to give back to the community by partnering with the Food Bank in Newport to offer food to local families. In addition, they are contributing to better health for kids by partnering with the Healthy Kids Running series. Every Sunday, for five weeks in the spring and fall, they organize races for 100 to 150 children between the ages of 2 and 12.

For entrepreneurs looking for a business, DrinkFit is guided by the philosophy that they will ensure that the planning, startup and operation will be as smooth as possible. They offer free marketing, free samples, and free accessories. In return, they hope to provide the best products and services to the business owners for a long time, with no specified minimums and no contracts. Operating the business is easy because there is no need for a refrigerator or freezer, just a store. There are also no capsules to pop for add-ins. All that is required is a simple, dummy-proof, five-step, 60-second serving process.

Founded in 2015, DrinkFit offers a juice bar as business at affordable price and low investment. They offer cost-per-drink, wholesale pricing, marketing, and other needs for a smoothie business. They provide fitness-tested products that can also be made available at home for that perfect recovery drink for people after a workout, such as running, biking, walking, yoga, and more. Their philosophy is that sugar is bad for health so it is minimized and real fruit is used instead of just flavoring. In addition, they are focused on saving time and money for the consumer. And finally, they are focused on ensuring that consumers will love the product with its delicious taste. That have gained the trust of the fitness industry having provided services to them for six years and millions of smoothies sold.
