Beverly Hills, California - December 09, 2021 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Beverly Hills chiropractic center Jochen Chiropractic & Wellness Center is offering a range of health and wellness services to its clients including chiropractic adjustments, chiropractic massage, acupuncture therapy, skincare, and more.

Chiropractic massage brings together the worlds of chiropractic care and massage therapy to solve musculoskeletal issues. Massages help the body by increasing blood circulation, relaxing muscles all over the body, improving muscular tone, boosting the immune system, reducing spinal pressure, and reducing swelling. Chiropractic treatments administered during the massage are known to be much more effective than if they were carried out without one. This is because the massage makes the muscles more receptive to the chiropractic adjustments and they support the chiropractic adjustments better, leading to a synergy that boosts the effectiveness of both treatments.

Chiropractic care optimizes the body's nervous system through spinal manipulation. Massages use pressure to manipulate the tightened muscles and soft tissues. Trigger point massages apply pressure to a specific point that triggers a therapeutic sensation to multiple areas to relieve tension. The patient can be massaged before or after the alignment. When the patient receives a massage before the chiropractic alignment, the muscles loosen up, increasing the corrective power of the adjustments. If the patient chooses to receive a massage after the adjustment, the soft and relaxed muscles decrease the risk of the spine being pulled out of alignment.

A spokesperson for the center talks about its chiropractic and massage therapy treatments by saying, "Holistic chiropractic massage treatments perfectly encapsulate our philosophy here at Jochen Chiropractic & Wellness Center, the best holistic chiropractic wellness center Beverly Hills has to offer. We begin by working with each client on a one-on-one basis, understanding their needs and goals. We then look at all the techniques that can improve their condition and narrow down the perfect combination of treatments to solve their individual problems. We then draft a plan that uses all the resources and treatment methodologies that we have to offer at our center to give them a complete wellness makeover. When they walk into our facility, they are entrusting us with their health and wellbeing and we take that responsibility very seriously. We do our best, every time, to live up to the expectations that our clients place in us. So far, we've succeeded with flying colors.
