North Bethesda, Maryland - November 24, 2021 -
Rockville, Maryland?s Treasure Moving Company is one of the most experienced short and long-distance moving specialists in its area. Often times this company?s staff likes to pass on the knowledge they have gained from the many years they have been in business by posting moving-related informational blog articles. The latest of which informs those that are going to relocate during the winter months how to make their move proceed along smoothly. The company owner, Fedor Kozlov, says, ?It?s no secret that moving can be a time-consuming and stressful process for anyone. Now that winter weather will soon be upon us, it has the potential to complicate a move even further. That?s why we wanted to pass on some ways in the form of a blog article, that will help someone who is relocating in winter make their move easier for them. It?s also beneficial when someone?s winter move is being helped along with experienced year-round professional movers such as us.?

This new Treasure Moving Company post brought up eight interesting suggestions regarding winter moving. That includes the fact that the move should start with proper planning well ahead of time. Something that will help eliminate some of the unknowns when it comes to relocating in winter. When planning it was mentioned that it may be best also to avoid altogether a move in the harshest winter months of January and February.

Assuming the weather is going to be bad and preparing for this was also brought up in the article. That?s why it?s so important to thoroughly pad and wrap the items that are going to be moved to protect them from ice and snow. This company?s recent blog also stated a relocating family should pack a winter survival kit and make sure rubber insulated boots and warm gloves were available in case they are needed. It was also suggested in the article that a few days before the actual move a customer should start monitoring the weather closely and make changes to the moving schedule if severe winter weather is imminent. The blog stated that sidewalks and driveways should be free of snow and ice and it does not hurt to have more people than usual carrying an item. As the blog post wrapped up, it talked about how hiring a professional moving company to do a majority of the packing and moving can make a winter moving project easier and safer.

These reputable Maryland Movers also service the entire Washington, DC area and many areas in Virginia too. Among some of the other moving services this company offers are residential & commercial relocation help, packing services, local & long-distance moves, small & large size moving tasks, and piano moves. Those that have used this company?s moving services during all times of the year speak very highly of how the company handled their move. Movers arrived promptly. My move was all very large, finely crafted, heavy furniture pieces. Great care was made for every piece. All padded and wrapped thoroughly. Movers had no problem handling the items and made sure to keep screws and fasteners connected to disassembled pieces. They listened to my request as to how I wanted it loaded into the storage unit. I would not hesitate to use this company in the future.? Melody Avery stated, ?Treasure Movers were so great to work with. They sent a team over to my mother's condo and packed everything up quickly and carefully. The team was professional but friendly and I enjoyed their positive energy.
