Destin, Fla ? Many multigenerational families want to vacation together for the holidays but have trouble finding lodgings that are both large enough to accommodate everyone and are far enough away from other vacationers so that they can socially distance themselves at all times if they so choose. For those who will be utilizing this time as a workcation as well, finding a place for the whole family to get together that also has an office space can be especially challenging. Have Travel Memories, a travel agency in Destin, FL, is offering an alternative option ? vacation rentals.

If one has a large family, it can be difficult to find lodging at a hotel or on a cruise ship that can comfortably fit everyone when you want to get together for the holidays. With a vacation rental home, families can enjoy larger spaces when everyone wants to get together for dinners or games and then retire to one of many different bedrooms when it's time for privacy. For those who need a distraction-free zone to work, JoDell Haverfield, President and CEO of Have Travel Memories had this to say in a recent YouTube video highlighting their vacation rentals: ?I think one of the reasons a lot of people are coming here, besides the amazing weather and the beauty of this area, is that they're working from home and part of that is Covid related (a great deal of it is) and so I want you to know that we also offer office space. So, if you brought your family and you're trying to work from home and the kids are having a little bit too much fun and you need to get on a conference call or you just need a quiet place with internet, we do have that available to our guests.?

As of now, there are still vacation rentals available for both Christmas and New Year's, with beach, lake, and golf course views. If one would like to include the furry members of the family on vacation, Have Travel Memories has pet-friendly vacation rental options available as well.
