Plant Based Hamper Co is owned by the founder Stephanie Martin, who is proud to say that she has been living and breathing the Vegan lifestyle for more than a decade. She acknowledges that, for quite some time, she had tried to find a business that she wanted to create for herself, and inspiration struck when looking for a birthday hamper for a friend. She realised that her calling was the gift of food and the gift of giving. After this epiphany, the ideas flowed, and nearly all of her previous ideas can be incorporated into a hamper as a gift for that someone special. She believes that giving a gift is not only a gift for the receiver, but also for the person who is giving.

Given that many people are allergic to dairy, eggs and/or gluten ? or have friends who are just trying plant-based options to incorporate better lifestyle choices ? finding something to suit all of these categories is a difficult task. Plant Based Hamper Co is happy to help. Stephanie reassures her community that, ?Not only have I handpicked each available item, I have tried and tested all of the products available in these hampers. Most have come from other small businesses like myself.?

Often, vegan food can be confusing, or not have the most pleasant taste. Fortunately, customers of Plant Based Hamper Co will be delighted to learn that their hamper recipient will be receiving a box full of amazing products. Stephanie's passion has always been to educate people about how they can live an amazing life, full of all the things they already love, especially without causing harm to animals and the planet.

To help make this dream a reality for more people, the company delivers their products across Australia.
