October 28, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

AdjectivesHQ, a newly launched business in Alberta, Canada, has released downloadable adjective posters. The company's focus is on providing high quality downloadable posters with a strong educational value. Their first series, the list of adjectives, is designed to be used by parents and teachers alike. All posters are available through the new TeachersPayTeachers store.

"My store focuses specifically on adjectives," says Alana from AdjectivesHQ. "These are some of the grammatical constructions that children often struggle the most with, and they are hard to explain using nothing but words. I have created a number of resources that can be used by teachers, home educators and parents alike in order to help their children get to grips with adjectives in a fun and entertaining way."

The store features a number of posters and games, some of which are free. Within the 'Adjectives that Start with A' series, for instance, parents can download a bingo game, character traits, and Grinchy adjectives, all of which are free. The store also offers seasonal bundles, such as the Halloween Adjective Bundle, which is available for just $4. This includes various games, charts and posters that children can relate to.

Parents and teachers alike have already purchased and downloaded various resources from the website. The current free 4 adjective posters and anchor charts are proving to be particularly popular. "Helpful in reinforcing the skill," says Shirley H. "Perfect," says Truly Scrumptious Teaching, "love it." This particular free pack includes First Day Feelings, Character Traits, Grinchy Adjectives and Water. They can be used as reference boards up on a wall, or as bookmarks in a child's workbook for easy reference.

The free adjective posters are currently focusing on adjectives that start with 'A'. However, more will be added over time, until the entire alphabet has been covered. Teachers and parents are encouraged to regularly visit the website, or to start an account. This will enable them to be the first to know of any new additions to the adjectives collection. A range of resources are already available, including word walls, and more are being added regularly.
