Pure Nature Botanicals Offers Massage Oil Designed By Therapists

October 28, 2015

October 28, 2015 -
Pure Nature Botanicals, a naturals company based out of Santa Rosa, CA, is now offering a sensual massage oil designed by massage therapists. The blend includes exotic and local ingredients such as Ylang Ylang Oil, Ginger, Sunflower Seed Oil, Grapeseed Oil, Safflower Seed Oil and various essential oils and natural aromatherapy oils to create something that sets itself apart from alternative non-natural massage products.

The company has been clear in their belief that therapeutic massage and aromatherapy offers both physical and psychological benefits. They describe the effect of the oil as producing a calmness, wholeness, and sensuality. Pure Nature Botanicals explains: "For thousands of years and throughout the world people have used systems of therapeutic massage. Massage techniques and aromatherapy massage oils have played an important role in many ancient healing traditions such as Ayurvedic practices in India and ancient Chinese healing methods. In Europe therapeutic massage was established in the early 18th century by Per Hendrik Ling, who developed what is now known as Swedish massage."

The massage oil was created using cold pressed plant oils which are rich in vitamins and do not leave behind any sticky residue. It is currently available through the Pure Nature Botanicals' online sales channel for the sale price of $24.95, and is geared to those seeking to increase the physical and emotional bond in their relationship, as well as those seeking relaxation. The company has said the following regarding their original blend of oils and the bond it can influence between partners sharing in the massage experience: "To achieve this closeness of touch and connection, Pure Nature Botanicals offers their massage oil designed by massage therapists. It is rich in essential oils designed to stimulate the senses and calm the nerves while the natural oils provide an easy glide to the movement of hands upon the body."

The product contains no nut oils and is described as non-allergenic. It is backed by a 100% money back guarantee to all customers who try it. Additional effects of the oil include healthier skin due to ingredients like vitamin E oil, and invigorated senses due to the aromatherapy properties.
###

For more information about Pure Nature Botanicals, contact the company here:Pure Nature BotanicalsCheryl Ulrich7078893763cheryl@purenaturebotanicals.com2334 Kipland dr.Santa Rosa, Ca.

Pure Nature Botanicals

Pure Nature Botanical carries high quality natural skincare and massage products. They consult with professional bodywork therapists to formulate massage oils that perform well on the job while also nourishing the skin.

Website: http://purenaturebotanicals.com

Email: cheryl@purenaturebotanicals.com

Phone: 7078893763