December 16, 2021 -
Hilton Head Island, SC - Hilton Head Island-based company Delta Roofing is taking the lead in installing environment-friendly roofing for residents of South Carolina.

The company offers Green Roofing System Bluffton, SC as they continue to gain popularity in the industry. Delta Roofing says a green roofing system is an addition to an existing roof that includes high-quality waterproofing, a root repellent system, drainage, or filter cloth, among others. Green roofing systems have been used in countries worldwide with numerous benefits. They offer considerable social, economic, and environmental benefits, especially in urban areas.

Furthermore, Delta Roofing shares the numerous benefits of installing a green roofing system. It can enhance stormwater management in a home. With green roofs, water is collected and used for plants. As a result, green roofs lower the amount of stormwater runoff and help ensure less strain on the sewage system.

Green roofs can also help reduce heat, especially during hot summer months. It is known to reduce the Urban Heat Island (UHI) effect, especially for crowded cities. Likewise, a green roofing system can help improve the air quality. Delta Roofing says green roofs can collect airborne pollutants, reduce atmospheric deposition, and filter toxic gases.

Those with installed green roofs also enjoy lower energy consumption. With their excellent insulation properties, green roofs are known to lower the amount of energy required to maintain a building?s temperature.

Delta Roofing commits to delivering exceptional service in roof installation, repairs, and replacement. ?We exclusively use high-quality materials; rest assured that every roof we install will be very durable,? they say.
