Augusta, GA based Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. is pleased to place their team?s legal expertise at the disposal of car accident victims. Acknowledging the life-changing injuries that can occur in an accident, the firm encourages their community to seek legal advice as soon as possible even if they believe the harm done is minimal.

?In the event you find yourself in an auto accident,? the firm clarifies, ?your first instinct should be to seek a consultation with a medical professional. We advise all our clients to see a doctor immediately even if they feel fine because certain injuries can take some time to present themselves. From a legal perspective, it is also important to document these injuries because they will help your case in the event you choose to pursue compensation. Once you have been cleared or treated, we urge you to get in touch with our team.? Injuries such as whiplash and concussions can be difficult for the average person to detect. It is best for them to get treated for such conditions as well as have a medical professional create relevant documentation. In addition to helping their case, this documentation might be helpful if the patient requires additional treatment in the future.

Notably, physical injuries are not the only reason why compensation may be needed. Damage to the victim?s vehicle, any possessions within, loss of wages and so on can have a large financial impact even if they leave the accident in perfect physical health. If they are able to, it is recommended that they take pictures of the scene, including the damage to both vehicles and their position. The lawyers at Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. - Augusta can use these photos (and other evidence they can independently collect) to determine the extent of the at-fault party?s responsibility and how much compensation is due.

In the event of serious injury or similar circumstances that mean the individual in question is unable to leave the hospital or their home, the firm is ready and willing to dispatch a case Investigator on their behalf. They will provide a free case review to determine the extent of their injuries and auto accident claim. Either the client or a representative (such as a family member or friend) is welcome to call the firm?s toll-free hotline to request this assistance.

Some may believe that representing themselves would be the best way to maximize the compensation they receive. However, this is very likely to not be the case for the simple reason that they will not have as much experience with Georgia auto accident law or its courts. The attorneys at Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. - Augusta have successfully represented numerous clients, and they know how to wield all available evidence to have the largest positive impact on a case. In turn, this will maximize the compensation the client is ultimately awarded.

Furthermore, the firm works on a contingency fee basis, which effectively means they will not have to be paid if they do not win. While an accident victim may hesitate to contact a reputable auto accident attorney for fear of incurring high fees, this is not the case with Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. - Augusta. The firm strongly believes that accident victims should not have to pay for their own medical bills, vehicle repairs and so on, and they make it their mission to ensure a victim is afforded all of their rights to suitable compensation. As such, they have a vested interest in ensuring their clients always win.

Kenneth S. Nugent, P.C. offers an exemplary legal service across their seven locations in Georgia, and their Augusta office is an excellent example of this ? as many of their previous clients have discovered. The firm is committed to protecting their community?s rights at all times, and they look forward to helping more people get the compensation they deserve.
