December 29, 2021 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

London, ON ? As a provider of water heater repair and installation services, Triton Plumbing + Services pays close attention to the plumbing industry. Recently, water heater company A.O. Smith acquired a Canada-based water heater manufacturer called Giant Factories.

Giant Factories was founded in 1945 as a family-owned business. Right before A.O Smith acquired the company, Giant Factories employed over 300 people with two manufacturing facilities in Montreal. The acquisition of Giant Factories has increased A.O. Smith?s presence in the Canadian market, as well as their selection of ?green? water heating products. These products receive their power from a renewable energy grid, making them better for the environment.

Kevin J. Wheeler, the chairman, and executive officer of A.O. Smith state: ?The addition of Giant strengthens our leadership position as a global supplier of residential and commercial water heaters. The acquisition also supports our corporate strategy by increasing our North American market penetration, creating additional capacity, and enhancing our distribution capabilities. Along with its rich history, established relationships, and talented team, Giant's values and business approach align with ours, and we look forward to welcoming Giant's employees to the A. O. Smith family.?

As a provider of water heater services, Triton Plumbing + Services is pleased to hear about A.O. Smith's successful acquisition and is excited about the company's increased presence in the Canadian water heater market.
