

Rapid Building Approvals in Qld Offers Full Line of Building Approvals in 2022

January 10, 2022

January 10, 2022 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Rapid Building Approvals, a company based in Mackay, Queensland, has announced that they are offering a full line of building approvals for 2022. These services cover different kinds of building approval requirements, including for new houses, demolitions, shed approvals, pool approvals, deck approvals, carport approvals, and renovation approvals. The North Queensland-based company is active in Cairns, the Whitsundays, Townsville, Mareeba, Atherton Tablelands, and Mackay and serve all of Queensland. They are banking on their advanced software and systems to reduce the long waiting time that is common in the approvals process. It is important to note that residential building approvals are necessary for those who live within a Cyclonic Region. There are some size exemptions for Southeast Queensland areas but it is suggested that homeowners contact the team at Rapid Building Approvals to discuss their future project.

Noah Smith, a spokesperson for Rapid Building Approvals, says, "Whether you are building a new deck, swimming pool, carport, extension, re-roofing, or demolishing a building, you will need building approvals to be able to proceed with your project. We have been able to consistently issue building approvals within 24 hours. We just need to get all of the required paperwork. Our 24-hour turnaround is also dependent on any preliminary approvals with council that have been obtained."

For the construction of new homes, they will work with the owner and builders, including the building contractors, in getting the building approvals for all kinds of residential building projects. For those with existing homes and want to build extensions, they will also help get the building approvals for substantial structural changes and extensions. This will ensure that the project is in compliance with relevant legislation in Queensland. Re-roofing projects will also require building approvals and they will also obtain the requisite building approvals as quickly as possible.

Building approvals are also needed for the building of a patio in Queensland before the owner can begin construction and Rapid Building Approvals will obtain the building approvals fast so the construction can be started as soon as possible. Carports and sheds will also need building approvals whether the construction is new or a renovation. This also includes DIY kits. And for swimming pools and new spas, getting proper approval is necessary to avoid any potential compliance issues later on. And for those who love the outdoor style and want to have a deck built for their home, the construction of a new deck or renovating an already existing deck will also need building approvals.

Meanwhile, Rapid Building Approvals is proud of the highly positive testimonials they have been getting from previous clients. For instance, Lysa T. gave them a 10 out of 10 rating and said, "I made the switch to Rapid Building Approvals for our projects, last year. He has been an absolute pleasure to deal with. I have never experienced such prompt approval and have never looked back. I have had great feedback from clients about their services and I would highly recommend them to anyone who needs certification or advice." Luke J., another satisfied client, said, "We have used many certifiers over our 15 years in the industry. Ryan and Scott at Rapid Approvals stand out above the rest. They have excellent knowledge, are very reactive to questions or concerns we might have and are always willing to go the extra mile. Highly recommend to anyone looking for hassle free quick certification, on any residential building project."

Launched in 2020 by Ryan Bird, Rapid Building Approvals has a team of experienced professionals and building certifiers to make sure that customers are able to get residential building approvals fast. They are focused on providing residential building certification services that have been observed to be more affordable and faster than other providers. Homeowners who need to tear something down, build something new, or make some modifications to a building can call on them for fast residential building approvals. At present, they have already delivered over 450 building approvals for projects across North Queensland.
