Touché Studio, a web design and web development agency based out of the Greater Montreal Area in Laval, Quebec, Canada, wants to inform everyone that they are providing small business digital marketing solutions that allow small businesses to achieve online visibility that they require in order to remain competitive in the modern world. They will be offering a new upcoming promotion for expedited website development where you can request more details at <https://touchestudio.com/services/website-design/>.

Touché Studio offers various services, such as: website design, website maintenance, website tune up, and search engine optimization (SEO). The primary purpose of website design is to ensure that site visitors are impressed the first time they visit. It is important to note that in the online world, first impressions count. If the person visiting the site for the first time is not impressed, they will likely leave and go to another website.

Paul Awad from Touché Studio says, "Our studio's aim is to get you noticed in the digital world. We utilize design ingenuity to create a brand personality, leaving your visitors with a long-lasting impact even after the first visit. We'll start by providing you with an assortment of web design sets, then we'll focus on tailoring development of your site to fit your brand. Each and every web design project presents its own goals, audiences and opportunities, that's why close collaboration is the foundation of building your project's strategy.?

Meanwhile, they also offer website maintenance to provide clients with peace of mind in the knowledge that their website continues to be monitored, ensured to be secure, and optimized to perform smoothly. And because various companies have different requirements, they offer a broad range of website care plans. For instance, their enterprise-level security website care is for constantly monitoring the website for any intruders and to keep them out. They also create secure off-site backups to make sure that the website can be restored as fast as possible in the event that something goes wrong.

Their website tune up service is to provide solutions for various issues that can affect websites. These include: a slow loading website; low search engine ranking; low conversions; unsecured website; outdated WordPress, plugins and theme; situation where original web designer has disappeared; and outdated content.

Meanwhile, their SEO services include organic search optimization; keyword research and strategy; and on-page SEO. The strategies that they apply will significantly improve the website's search engine ranking position. This is because: their team will be focused on the client's business, enhancing internet based operation and traffic flow; provision of local SEO, which is designed to boost the online visibility of the business, pushing the website up in terms of search engine results; and provision of local SEO tools and strategies that ultimately result into a stronger customer base over time.

Touché Studio also has a referral program where customers can refer a friend and get a reward for it. It is a simple referral system that does not require the use of affiliate links. When referring a friend to them, the friend will only need to mention the name of the customer who referred them.

Founded in 2010, Touché Studio has a core team of web designers and developers who have expertise in creating attractive websites and apps, video production, and corporate identities for small business marketing campaigns. They have set as their mission the creation of appealing websites and marketing materials for clients.
