

3rd Rock Releases Supplements With Vegetarian Ingredients For Boosting Concentration

November 04, 2015

November 04, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

3rd Rock Products, LLC, a Laguna Beach, CA based company, has released a line of Natural Brain Enhancers, which contain only natural and vegetarian ingredients. The shell is made up of rice flour and the internal ingredients contain caffeine and L-theanine, which may act together to provide an alert mental state that caffeine alone is unable to produce.

Many other supplements use gelatin as a coating for their capsules, which precludes vegetarians and vegans from using these products. Gelatin is obtained by boiling down specific animal parts, which then partially solidify into the ingredient used in so many products today.

The 3rd Rock Products supplement, called Steady Focus, distinguishes itself from energy drinks and other caffeine-based products through the calming effect of L-theanine, which counteracts the jittery anxiousness that many associate with coffee. This addition to the brain enhancer blend also decreases other unwanted side effects, such as fatigue and the mid-morning crash experienced from other supplements and beverages.

These supplements for concentration enhancement are top performing nootropics sold through the company's online retail channel. Each bottle contains 60 capsules, providing enough energy and focus for an extended period of time before a second bottle may need to be purchased. 3rd Rock Products stands behind this offer with a 100% customer satisfaction full money back guarantee.

The manufacturers of Steady Focus have been open in their efforts to be transparent with customers, providing access to listed ingredients within their formula. They have compared their ingredients to alternative supplements, stating that the all-natural vegetarian mixture is more beneficial to those who are seeking less additives and pharmaceuticals in products.

Those who have tried the product have expressed their satisfaction. Wendi Small says, "The first night, I popped one pill a half hour before the kids' bed time. By the time my daughter was asleep, I felt so ready to take on the night. I can't believe how much I got done. I vacuumed the whole house, cleaned the windows, scrubbed down the whole kitchen and bathroom, and finished the night off by conquering a mountain of restaurant paperwork. I worked for about 4 hours with no crash. When I did climb into bed, I was still able to go to sleep no problem."

Those interested in learning more about Steady Focus and its enhancement benefits for clarity, focus, and attention, are encouraged by 3rd Rock Products to visit the company sales page. Here consumers can read consumer reviews, communicate their own opinions with the business and read additional information on the supplements themselves. The site also includes pricing and shipping information, and describes further benefits found in the combination of caffeine and L-theanine.
