

H&W Quality Products Give Travel Support With Hooded Neck Pillow

October 30, 2015

October 30, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

H&W Quality Products has inspired a new method of travel with their Hooded Neck Pillow, the company created the pillow as their second product in an effort to offer more privacy and comfort to travelers. Something that sets this cushion apart from others is its ability to block light, and cushion the ears from surrounding noises without fully blocking out sound from the cabin, while simultaneously supporting the neck and head.

This hooded neck pillow sells through the company's online sales portal at <http://www.amazon.com/dp/B011JHZKE8> and comes with a lifetime warranty. It is created with elastic memory foam for comfort when traveling by plane, car, bus, or train. The memory foam is covered in a soft velour finish, with a hood that is longer than alternative models, to fully cover the eyes for more peaceful sleep. One consumer had the following to say about his experience with the pillow: "Easily the best investment of my life. I went from getting no sleep on planes, to falling asleep before the captain turns on the 'fasten seat belt' sign. If you have any sense at all you will buy this pillow and never look back. It will be the best decision you've made in a long time. Guaranteed."

H&W Quality Products provides more information regarding the neck cushion and other products on the company website at <http://www.hwqualityproducts.com/>.
