January 28, 2022 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Frux Home and Yard, the manufacturer of the Frux Sili Mitts, has responded to a 5-star review that it recently received on the product on its Amazon store page.

Titled ?Surprised how much I like these oven mitts?, the Amazon customer's review was posted on January 17, 2022. The review was from a verified purchaser who bought the 14.75-inches variant of the product in the blue color scheme. The review says, ?We've typically avoided the synthetic oven gloves and pot holders over the years because they're clumsy and not really all that great with the heat. But these have been stellar so far, and much easier to clean. And I'm surprised how much I like the length of them - they go well up to my long forearm, which I wasn't sure about at first. I'd buy these again for sure.?

A spokesperson for Frux Home and Yard responded to the review by saying, ?We are grateful that the customer took the time out of their busy day to share their thoughts on the Frux Sili Mitts with other customers on Amazon. We want to thank the customer for leaving us a 5-star review and we are extremely glad that our product was able to make a meaningful change to the way you cook on a daily basis. The Frux Sili Mitts are made from BPA-free, food-grade silicone, a much higher quality and safer material than what you would usually find in other synthetic feeling mitts in this price range. They are also exceedingly capable of resisting heat as they are heat safe up to 500 degrees Fahrenheit. So you won't have to worry about them melting or catching on fire when you are using them daily in the kitchen. The design of our oven mitts went through several iterations which explains why they are far less clumsy-feeling compared to competing products and fit well on everyone's hands. The reviewer also noted the enhanced safety that the extra-long oven mitts provide as they make it easy to protect the wearer's entire forearm from hot food and spills. We would like to thank the astute Amazon reviewer again for picking up on and succinctly communicating all the qualities of the Frux Sili Mitts that we spent years researching and perfecting before bringing to manufacturing. We are confident that we have created the last oven glove or potholder mitt that you will ever need.?

The Frux Sili Mitts are available in 2 sizes - 13.5 inches and 14.75 inches. The 13.5-inch version is available for $12.97 for a pair while the 14.75-inch version retails for $13.97 for a pair. They are also available in 4 different colors - black, blue, gray, and red. The product has been well received on Amazon. It has amassed over 6500 reviews and is rated at 4.7 out of 5. 95% of the customers who reviewed the product rated it at either 5 or 4 stars. It is rated at 5.0 out of 5 for its stretchability, 4.8 out of 5 for durability, 4.8 out of 5 for ease of cleaning, 4.7 out of 5 for heat resistance, 4.7 out of 5 for its ability to make a great gift for several occasions, and 4.6 out of 5 for ease of use.

Frux Home and Yard's heat resistant oven mitts are made up of an outer layer of flame retardant silicone that will safeguard the wearer's hands and forearms while cooking, while the inner quilted cotton lining provides added comfort and protection. The gloves are also 100% waterproof and protect against scalding from steam. They have a non-slip grip to make handling large pots and pans easy. The mitts are ambidextrous and also have a fabric loop on the side to allow the buyer to hang them around the kitchen for easy access. They are very easy to clean, can be machine washed on a gentle cycle, and won't tear or fray over time.
