Asbestos is a dangerous substance that has caused many people to fall ill over the years, and this is why asbestos abatement is so important. Those who are not certified to work with asbestos are generally discouraged from allowing themselves to spend any time near asbestos when it is being removed. Homeowners looking to renovate their homes often find asbestos, however, and in cases like this it is always best to contact a professional and have them handle it. "My experience with Homestar was exceptional," says one review of The Homestar Group from a customer named Ashlee D. "From the start, right after my home caught fire, to finishing with the delivery of my items three months later once we closed on our house, [they were] professional. Brittney Daniel went above and far beyond to ensure my family received the best help and take care of our property. 100% will use them again should something ever happen!?"

Maria R. also says, "Brittany Daniels and team came out at the request of Mike Wetzal (awesome mitigation VP). After the initial water damage property assessment, Brittany arrived on site, same day, with dehumidifiers! After insurance approval, Brittany initiated her team within 72 hrs to begin removal of damaged property! The team came in, removed damaged property, treated areas, continued with the dehumidifiers. Homestar has been a true blessing for our family! They have made our stressful situation less stressful! Extremely professional and timely! Would give 10 stars if the option was available!?"
