

Vancouver Volkswagen Now Delivering Long Awaited Electric SUV

February 07, 2022

February 07, 2022 -

BC based Vancouver Volkswagen is pleased to report that they have begun supplying electric Volkswagen ID.4s following a long wait caused by high demand and supply issues. A number of customers have already received theirs, and there are several posts on the Vancouver dealership?s Facebook page showing happy new electric Volkswagen owners. The much anticipated delivery of the electric Volkswagens has several buyers very excited to make their next purchase. In a recent post highlighted by the dealership, one customer appears next to his brand new 2021 ID.4, and the Volkswagen dealership proudly congratulates him on his purchase. See the post here: https://www.facebook.com/vancouvervolkswagen/posts/10158797349563379.

The ID.4 is one of the first in Volkswagen?s line of electric vehicles, and it is only available under pre-order, which is why many buyers find themselves waiting for their car to be delivered. The dealer has made it simple to get get into this new Volkswagen. First, the buyer reserves and orders their ID.4, either online or in-store at the Main Street location, where sales consultants help the buyer choose their ideal configuration. Throughout the factory manufacturing process, Volkswagen keeps customers informed of their car?s progress, making sure they know what happens from the moment it leaves the factory to when it travels across the US to the moment when it arrives at the customers? local dealer. Once it arrives, the customer can then complete their financing with the dealer. Throughout the process, the buyer can manage their ID.4 reservation through Volkswagen?s portal. At the end of it all, the buyer receives their vehicle. See the dealership's full inventory here: https://www.vancouvervolkswagen.com/new-vehicles/id-4/.

?The Volkswagen ID.4 SUV is truly something to behold,? says Volkswagen. ?On the outside, clean aerodynamic lines make for a striking presence on the road. On the inside, plenty of room makes for a spacious, comfortable cabin ? it will transform how you think about electric cars. Best of all? You can reserve it right now.?
