January 27, 2022 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Destin, Fla. ? As the new year is now in full swing, it is the perfect time to begin planning out the next 11 months, including when and where to go on vacation in 2022. To have the best experience possible, travel advisors recommend planning in advance. In support of this advice, Have Travel Memories is announcing their upcoming trip called the ?Holy Land Classic.?

The Holy Land Classic is a 10-day tour where travelers will visit places such as Jerusalem, Nazareth, Western Wall, Mount Zion, Mount of Olives, Cana, Caesarea, Galilee, and more. Nearly all-inclusive, this trip starts at $3,548. Travelers who embark on this adventure will get to lay their eyes on many different historical sites, take part in guided sightseeing experiences, stay in first-class hotels, and travel from place to place in deluxe motor coaches. The plane will take off from New York on March 1, and travelers will enjoy the Holy Lands until March 10 unless they choose to further extend their stay.

When taking a trip like this, there are many small details and expenses that are easy to miss while planning and budgeting. As an experienced luxury travel agency, Have Travel Memories has taken care of each of these details to keep their travelers from experiencing any unwanted surprises. Some examples of these small details that are already factored into the price of the Holy Land Classic are program fees, government taxes, and hotel gratuities. In addition, as food expenses are also often forgotten, it is important to note that the trip price includes breakfast and dinner.

Travelers can find more information about the Holy Land Classic on the Have Travel Memories website: <https://trips.havetravelmemories.com/book-now-2022-holy-land-tour>.
