

Lynchburg Tree Service Discusses the Types of Trimming and Pruning Services It Offers

February 01, 2022

Lynchburg, Virginia - February 01, 2022 -
Lynchburg Tree Service is a company that has established a reputation for being among the most respected tree care providers in their area of Virginia. A large part of this is due to the many different tree trimming services the company offers; services that are designed to not only keep its customers' trees looking great but also to keep them as healthy as possible.

A spokesperson for the company, Bradley Benner, says, ?We here at Lynchburg Tree Service put all of our collective knowledge and expertise into every tree trimming job that we take on. This includes such things as knowing what time of year is best to trim different species of trees in the area and the proper way to trim that. For us, tree trimming is more of an art form than it is a job. After all, trees are a big part of our lives so they deserve nothing but the absolute best care that we can give them. At Lynchburg tree service we are certainly happy to play a role in that.?

Brenner went on to describe the different types of tree trimming services that they offer. He started by talking about dead wooding, also sometimes called crown cleaning. As the name indicates, this is a type of tree trimming that centers around the removal of dead, dying, diseased, and broken tree branches. It is one of the most basic tree trimming services and at some point, every species of tree will need to have it done to them. He also mentioned crown thinning which is essential to tree health. It involves selectively removing some branches on a tree to allow essential sunlight, air, and moisture to penetrate further towards the interior of a tree. It also can help reduce the weight of tree limbs to promote a tree?s ability to retain its natural shape better. Also brought up was crown raising, a type of tree trimming that is often done to promote safety in a landscape. The company spokesperson says that it involves removing some of the lower limbs on a tree to do such things as making it safer to walk under trees and to keep trees from growing too close to fences and other objects that are under them. He also talked about another type of tree trimming that is done with safety in mind called crown reduction. It is done to help keep a tree?s canopy away from buildings, power lines, lights, signs, and other structures. Also talked about was a tree trimming specialty of the company called crown shaping. This involves trimming a tree in a way that trains it to grow in its most eye-pleasing way. Brenner says that they can even do vista pruning to create scenic views and crown restoration trimming after a tree has been damaged by a storm.

Those that have had tree trimming work done by the crews at Lynchburg Tree Service often write reviews stating how pleased they are with the tree work that was provided for them. Leslie Perez claimed, ?Top-Notch! Miguel and his crew removed a few trees and trimmed several trees in our backyard on time and within our budget. They did a great job! We would use this company again. You won?t find a more caring, honest tree trimming service in Lynchburg!? Ashley Rosa shared, ?This is the second time I?ve used this tree trimming service, and once again, I was delighted with Lynchburg Tree Service. The clean-up was extensive. If I need any tree-related services in the future, I will certainly give him a call. Thanks!?

The company also offers a wide variety of other professional tree services too. This list includes tree felling & removal, stump grinding & removal, and fast responding storm cleanup & emergency tree services. They also are adept when it comes to land clearing, forestry mulching, and bush hogging & brush removal.
