California, February 2022: Senior Strong presents a new report that reveals good hobbies for seniors. The report was compiled by the company's senior care experts and released amid the rise of seniors living alone in the U.S. The article was published on Senior Strong's website and can be found here.

As people age, they tend to have significantly more free time, and on retirement, many prefer to work part-time to keep busy. It is crucial for seniors to maintain physical and social activity. This will not only help them avoid boredom and depression, but it will also help them prevent developing a variety of health problems. The solution is to take up a new pastime or two. This publication aims to address the issue of loneliness and depression for senior citizens as they age and lack social and physical activities in their daily lives.

According to Senior Strong, the report was produced after in-depth research by their experts. The report's primary focus is on listing the various healthy hobbies for seniors. The new article further sheds light on how these hobbies can benefit seniors. The experts in the report explained the importance of hobbies for seniors to reduce stress and assist them in living more productive lives. The report was published as part of their
