Fitness Brand EXOUS Bodygear announce today their new product the Performance Speed skipping rope is to be made available in the UK In November 2015. The new product will be an extension to their sports and fitness lines and will be competitively priced in the jump rope market.

The product will be targeted for the fitness professional and also enthusiasts who wish to utilise skipping rope sessions as part of their workouts. The product is grey in colour is lightweight at only 88 grams and is manufactured with all metal moving parts and attachments. the rope also comes with a carry case, ebook and videos to help improve progression and also structure metabolic fat burning workouts.

The Brand manager from EXOUS had the following statement. "We are always trying to add value in all of our products we bring to the market, even with our performance speed jump rope we wanted to ensure the quality was of the highest standards as we are targeting the professional athlete and many cross-fit individuals. By making the rope attachments all metal, using very fast 360-degree ball bearings and making the overall weight less than 90 grams we believe we have another quality product that will help athletes and fitness individuals reach their workout goals. We also added extra value in the form of an instructional e-book and videos to help less experienced individuals benefit from the product and improve their technique and fitness.

EXOUS Bodygear have a dedicated members area where all of their customers can log into after purchase and receive additional content, bonuses and downloads associated with the relevant product they have purchased.
