GetCandLED, a company based out of Albany, Texas, has recently made their product, Petite Flameless Pillar Candles, available for purchase through the company's online retail channel at <http://amzn.to/1M0JYvc>. This move has been made in an effort to provide better access to the flameless candle product for customers seeking gift ideas for the holiday season. Company spokeswoman, Amanda Huntington, has said the following regarding the efforts made by the company to streamline this shipping process and bring more options to the consumer public: "These candles were our biggest sellers last year and we are pleased to have them back in Amazon's warehouse where they will ship more quickly and at a lower cost."

The shipping being offered by GetCandLED is provided for free when consumers spend more than thirty-five dollars on their online purchases. This particular shipping option runs to 50 states over a shipping period of 5-8 business days. Customers can also pay for faster shipping, including next day delivery. In order to create a more seasonal effect in the shopping and shipping through this sales channel, customers who order the Petite Flameless Pillar Candles as a gift for the holidays can also take advantage of the gift wrapping options provided by Amazon.

The candles are flameless, smokeless, and come in a set of four with a battery operated wireless remote control for easy light management. The lights flicker for a realistic view, and are marketed as a great addition to the home in windows and above mantles for the holidays. The company has also stated that these candles provide an illuminating ambience year round for those who enjoy soaking in the tub, or candlelight in the bedroom area. More ideas for how and where to place the candles can be seen on the company's official website at <http://bit.ly/1XDoCvn>.
