

OC Partnership?s Guide Explains How To Help People With Mental Conditions

February 09, 2022

February 09, 2022 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

OC Partnership presents a new report that explains how to help people with mental conditions. The report was compiled by the company?s sociology experts and published on OC Partnership's website amid the rise in mental health conditions in the United States.

Mental illnesses are increasingly common in the United States. One in five adults in the U.S has a mental illness, with the National Institute of Mental Health placing the number at 52.9 million in 2020. There are many different types of mental illness, ranging from mild to severe. This publication aims to address the rising number of mental health conditions.

According to OC Partnership, the report was produced after in-depth research by their experts. The report's primary focus is to help someone suffering from mental health issues. The new article sheds light on seven ways to respond and care for people with mental conditions. The experts in the report explained some indicators that suggest someone is dealing with a mental health condition. The report was published as part of their regular research on mental health.
