

Dependable Homebuyers Sees Opportunity in Flipping Houses in Baltimore

March 14, 2022

Baltimore, Maryland - March 14, 2022 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Local property flipping company Dependable Homebuyers has recently announced a new streamlined home buying program to enable homeowners to sell Baltimore homes fast without having to list with a real estate agency. The Baltimore-based investment firm does a lot of business in the Baltimore Metro real estate market, and they have lately expanded their house flipping operations to Baltimore. Maryland house owners can profit from investment firms like Dependable Homebuyers, which work directly with a cash buyer to streamline the process of selling their home and avoiding the MLS. When listing a home with a real estate agent, it's only for the sake of convenience. Houses in excellent shape, on the other hand, are better suited to selling directly to a cash buyer who can close fast with no questions asked because those properties will attract far less interest from realtors and buyers.

Dependable Homebuyers has a number of programs for different types of homeowners in different situations. One program is designed to help those who need to sell their home but don't have the time to wait for a real estate transaction to close. This type of customer is interested in selling their home as-is for a cash payment so that they can move on with their lives. The firm has a team of home evaluators who will come to the property, do a quick inspection, and make a cash offer based on their findings.

The as-is for cash program is designed for those who need to sell quickly and aren't interested in going through the hassle and expense of making repairs or waiting for a traditional sale to close. For these customers, time is of the essence, and they need to sell their home now. This program is also for those who may be dealing with difficult life circumstances such as job loss, divorce, or illness and can't afford to wait for a real estate transaction to go through.

Selling Maryland homes directly to a real estate investor is attractive for property owners who are facing difficult life situations such as foreclosure, divorce, job relocation, squatters, bad tenants, inheritance properties, and other similar situations where a fast cash closing is preferred over listing on the market and waiting for a closing to take place several months down the road. Investors are often willing to purchase homes in poor condition as well even if they have asbestos siding, foundation damage, fire damage, mold damage, hail damage, and other serious problems that would prevent a lender from underwriting a loan on the home to an end buyer. Since the house cannot be purchased using a bank loan, the only choice left is to sell directly to a professional home buyer or another sort of cash buyer who does not require one. When a homeowner finds himself in one of these unfavorable situations, he or she will usually choose cash buyers since the transaction can be completed much faster without having to put money into repairs or closing costs.

Each of these methods has its own set of pros and cons, with cash in as little as one week flat. However, Baltimore homeowners should be aware that many "wholesalers" operate in the market and do not actually have the cash on hand to acquire their home.

The seller may require a proof of funds letter, which is one way to eliminate property wholesalers quickly. Any firm with cash on hand will be able to provide a proof of funds document right away, whereas wholesalers will not be capable of doing so. Avoiding dealing with wholesalers is critical since these investors will A real cash buyer who pays in full will be able to provide a proof of funds letter as well as cover all closing expenses, so the seller does not have to pay anything out of pocket. Normally sellers are responsible for paying monthly holding costs such as taxes, utilities, mortgage payments, homeowner's insurance, and any other recurring costs that occur on a consistent basis.
