

Online Human Design Innovators And Entrepreneurs Course Launched

November 09, 2015

November 09, 2015 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

MYHD, a global business, is proud to announce that Christopher Power, the master human design consultant, is launching a new online video course about 'human design'. This course has been created to help innovators and entrepreneurs be more effective in their decision making processes. The course is truly unique and applies to everybody at any point in their life.

"I focus on helping people discover their innate ability to make powerful and effective decisions," says Christopher Power. "Most people have made decisions that got them into trouble and they need to be more aware of the science behind making decisions. Everybody has this ability built into them and my course is designed to bring that out."

Effective decision making is something that can be applied to anyone at any point in their life. While the course focuses specifically on innovators and entrepreneurs, it can actually benefit people from all walks of life, from the house-husband to the CEO of a multinational company. The course currently includes a number of free videos, a range of paid for, advanced videos, practical experience in your daily life, feedback webinars and a personal consultation with Power himself.

Those who have been working with Power have been very positive about the results. "One of the things I liked best was my personal human design chart," says one happy participant. "It clearly showed me what my purpose in this world is and what strategies I should apply whenever I have to make a decision. It also showed me what my Inner Authority is, and what the effects on my well-being are of living as my Not Self. I feel that I am now living as my True Self and I have Power and his course to thank for this."

The Human Design System is a unique system that is designed to help people experience true satisfaction in their life. It focuses on success, peace and delight, moving people away from frustration, bitterness, anger and disappointment. People are encouraged to visit the MYHD website as soon as possible to see what the course could mean for them and their ability to make effective decisions.

###

For more information about MYHD, contact the company here: MYHDChristopher Power+66922350217cp@christopherjpower.com67688 San Andreas Desert Hot Springs CA, USA 92240

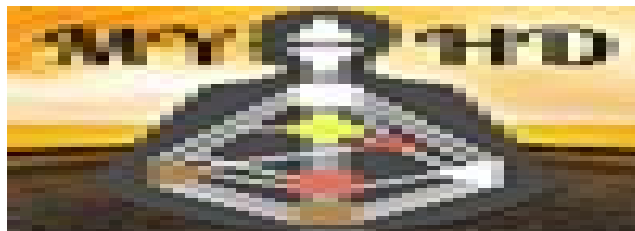

MYHD

Human Design is the science of decision making in all aspects of real life from business to relationships to health. It is a practical key and map to self understanding.

Website: <http://masteryourhumandesign.com/>

Email: cp@christopherjpower.com

Phone: +66922350217

Powered by PressAdvantage.com