Smart Notifications System For Amazon Sellers In Final Phase

March 15, 2022

March 15, 2022 -

Today ManageByStats announced their upcoming Smart Notifications system has reached the final milestone in its development. This new system will update and replace the existing MBS notifications system, with greatly expanded options and functionality. ManageByStats is a comprehensive software suite with tools to help Amazon sellers automate and manage their Amazon business.

"Your Amazon business is humming day and night," says MBS CEO, Philip Jepsen. "Lots of information is available to tell you how it's doing, but how often do you check to see where everything is at? How often can you? How do you catch dips or spikes so you can act?"

The new Smart Notifications system delivers customized notifications through email or SMS, notifying Amazon sellers of vital info about their Amazon business based on trigger events. Available triggers will include Amazon revenue and stocking, along with sales and review events, plus the full set of info calculated and tracked by the ManageByStats tools.

"No one can sit and monitor their Amazon business at all times," says Mister Jepsen. "As with most activities, running a successful Amazon business consists of having the oversight and the insight needed to make decisions, and having a continual awareness of vital systems such that you can act when needed. That's where we come in.?
