March 21, 2022 -

Maria Gudelis, a life and business coach based in London, Ontario, Canada, is happy to announce the Social Media Traffic Spring Workshops with Carina Hutton. In this workshop, participants guided by Maria Gudelis will start from scratch to create a social post idea, develop an ultimate ad, and get traffic. The goal is to launch this ad in two hours. The workshop is based on Carina Hutton's actual e-commerce experience, having made more than $1 million with just one e-commerce store from January 2013 to December 2020. Meanwhile, one of Maria Gudelis' e-com students was able to achieve sales of about a quarter of a million dollars in just 30 days.

Those who have attended workshops by Maria Gudelis have provided highly positive feedback. For instance, Julie W. said, "I honestly believe when you are looking to find a mentor to help you succeed online the old values of choosing someone you know like and trust is more important now than it has ever been before. That's why I would love to tell you about my experience with Maria as she has guided my business to success. My ecommerce business grew well over 900% within the first month of Maria's ad funnel being in place. She does a great job at blueprinting the entire process, explaining it and applying what's working now in Facebook advertising to help me grow my business in leaps and bounds. Maria is one of those rare people online who actually care about you as a person and about your success. If you have the chance to work with her or do one of her courses you cannot go wrong."

In this two-hour workshop, participants will be launching their post and ad in order for them to get traffic that will get them sales. They will be finding that winning idea for a social post using simple research methods to enable them to begin strong. Together, they will be mapping out their social media selling technique using their "1k a day ECOM MARKETING? Blueprint". Participants will discover how to attract customers by posting the "right" kind of post at the "proper" time and creating their own "perfect targeted audience." They will also get step by step instructions on how to set up a Facebook ad.

Meanwhile, in one of her recent podcasts, Maria Gudelis discussed how to run a challenge that would have a high conversion rate using her advanced marketing skills. In this episode, she focuses on three key strategies that she has found to be most effective, which are: Facebook ads, low ticket funnels, and webinars. She explains the best strategies for gaining customers quickly and in a simple manner. Specifically, in this episode, she discusses where she got her start; the difference between an email list and a buyers list; how make $700 a day during a pandemic; and the best way to being a podcast.

Maria Gudelis has founded several multiple million dollar online companies and she has taught over 30,000 people from various parts of the world during the last decade. All of that were made possible as a result of her skills in copywriting and direct response marketing. She is a Western MBA graduate and was employed in a number of Fortune 500 companies. She started her entrepreneurship career by creating an online hosting company in 2000, because she believed that there is great opportunity in the Internet.

Maria Gudelis has regular podcasts to assist people with their online sales efforts. She has now 11 podcasts that can be accessed through her website. Her first two podcasts taught people how to reprogram themselves because most people have been programmed to pursue a life where they are dependent on the paycheck from employment. There is a need to reprogram a person's mind to accomplish success and happiness, which cannot be provided by simply getting employed.

People who would like to know more about the Maria Gudelis social media workshop can visit the Maria Gudelis website or contact her through the telephone or via email.
