Beverly Hills, California - April 13, 2022 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Jochen Chiropractic & Wellness Center, a holistic and pain-free clinic based in Beverly Hills, CA, is pleased to announce that they are offering skin care services in Beverly Hills and neighboring areas. They want to point out that skin care is the practice of keeping the skin healthy. They take the medical care element of skin care seriously while also continuing to seek innovative strategies to improve the aesthetic appearance of the skin. Their skin care services are carefully performed by industry professionals and these include: microcurrent treatment; microdermabrasion; signature facial; and body hair treatments. Thus, when looking for microdermabrasion Beverly Hills residents can depend on Jochen Chiropractic & Wellness Center.

They use microdermabrasion treatments to enhance the appearance of brown, aging, and dull spots on the skin. They use diamond-tip microdermabrasion, which is a relatively new procedure. It has been gaining in popularity because it does not use crystals to exfoliate the skin. Instead, a diamond-encrusted tip is passed over the skin, which is more gentle. The use of crystal for exfoliation can leave the skin inflamed because the crystals can be too abrasive.

Meanwhile, microcurrent treatment is frequently called a "workout for the skin." In this treatment, very low voltage is applied to the skin and the microcurrent stimulates repair to the damaged cells. The very low voltage stimulates the body's natural electrical conduction and the treatment is effective, painless, and safe, resulting into a glowing skin that has been repaired at the cellular level.

Their signature facial is a multi-step professional facial that is designed to cleanse, exfoliate and nourish the skin. This facial is designed to promote a clear and well-hydrated facial complexion.

Meanwhile, Jochen Chiropractic & Wellness Center also provides cupping therapy Beverly Hills residents can use to relieve their stiff muscles of the neck, shoulders and back, decrease swelling and inflammation, and provide relief to pressure points within the body. Cupping therapy, which is a part of traditional Chinese medicine (TCM), is designed to help promote circulation within the body through the suction that is provided by the cups. Licensed acupuncturist Jainen Shin will strategically position the cups on the patient's meridian lines and will instruct the patient to remain still for approximately 20 minutes so that your body can let the cupping perform its work.

Cupping therapy can be used to get rid of stress before and after a sports event and for restoring muscle functions. It can be also used to treat other conditions, such as: coughs and colds; arthritis; stress; and headaches, including migraines. It has also been observed to enhance the immune system, improve the body's natural detoxification processes, and promote relaxation.

Acupuncture is another holistic healing method that is part of TCM. It helps to realign the energy in the body through the insertion of sterilized needles into the skin at the appropriate depth. Each needle is inserted into a particular meridian point, which is a point on the body where energy collects and disperses.

Launched in 1994, Jochen Chiropractic & Wellness Center specializes helping patients attain their wellness goals by combining the different skills and expertise that embraces the entire wellness spectrum, from chiropractic care to TCM. Dr. Stephen Jochen, D.C., who prefers the whole-person approach to chiropractic care, leads the group of health professionals at the wellness center. Together they provide patients with a holistic way for achieving a pain-free lifestyle, which is not dependent on invasive procedures and the use of many pharmaceutical drugs.
