

Starting Point: We Buy Houses In St. Louis

April 05, 2022

April 05, 2022 -
St. Peters, MO based Starting Point would like to reach out to local residents who may be in search of a way to get rid of an unwanted house. People may choose to sell their houses for any of a dozen reasons, with one of the most common being to get rid of a piece of inherited property gained after a death in the family. Starting Point helps people in such situations get the most out of their newly acquired properties by making highly attractive cash offers. The company?s website can be found at https://startingpointre.com/.

?Due to a death in the family, we inherited a house,? says one of the company?s clients who found themselves in such a situation. ?On inspection, we realized that it required a significant investment to bring it up to market standards/market price. This would require a lot of time and work, so we investigated companies that buy houses ?as is.? Four such companies were invited to tour the property. Brent Hough represented Starting Point Real Estate, and he was very nice to work with. He took notes and pictures and sent us an offer within one day. The offers that we received had a wide range from low to high. It was easy to narrow the field to two companies for serious consideration.?

The client continues, ?Starting Point?s offer was reasonable, after considering the average market prices of homes in the area and the investment needed as well as the real estate commission we?d have to pay for a sale. We also considered the amount of cash outlay needed just to keep a house running during renovation if we did the work (all utilities, real estate taxes, mortgage expense, etc). It just made sense! Jeff Garner (CEO) stopped by for an inspection and was also a pleasant person to work with.?

Following this, the next step was to finalize the deal, and Starting Point made this incredibly easy as well. The review says, ?Starting Point wanted the house right away but allowed us some time to conduct an estate sale then pack up the unsold items for donation to charity. Angel Bradley was the prime contact point to handle sale details.? The client concludes, ?All told, Starting Point staff made the entire process very easy on us during a difficult time for the family. I strongly recommend them to anyone who has a home to sell.?

Selling a home to Starting Point is one of the fastest ways to unload an unwanted property without having to settle for a lowball offer. In three simple steps, the seller can go from not knowing what to do with the land in question to having a fairly large sum of cash. The first step is to contact Starting Point and describe the situation. Once this is done, Starting Point sends out a buying expert who provides a quick, accurate ? and perhaps most importantly, free ? professional valuation which gives the owner some idea of how much they are likely to get from selling their property. Finally, Starting Point provides a cash offer, and the owner can close on the sale in as few as five days. More information can be found at: We buy houses St. Louis

Starting Point has been in the business for over 20 years, and they have helped countless homeowners through many different situations. Bankruptcy, foreclosure, divorce and inheritance are just a few of the issues that are common to Starting Point?s clientele, and they generally reduce the severity of these problems by offering fast, firm offers on the houses in question. They buy houses as is, including homes in poor condition, while still providing excellent cash offers.

Starting Point also offers to help aspiring real estate professionals learn everything they need to start earning a monthly income through a 6-week apprenticeship with Jeff Garner, the mind behind much of Starting Point?s success. The course includes coaching and training, weekly calls and webinars and exclusive materials that cover several aspects of the field, including deal hunting, deal renovating and much more.
