California, April 2022: A newly released guide by Assured Standard explains how to gauge a trucking business' insurance coverage requirement. The company's insurance experts produced the article that was published on Assured Standard's website. The article served as a guide for trucking companies looking to learn more about how much insurance they need. Readers can find the full guide here.

This guide was designed to highlight the importance of understanding the right amount of coverage for a business. Truck demand is limited in the current labor market due to a lack of drivers. The trucking industry is keen to reduce costs, making it hard to find adequate insurance. A trucking company's coverage is often affected by the type of truck operated and the items it carries. Business owners need to know what to consider when determining how much trucking coverage their business needs.

The article focuses on what commercial truck insurance typically covers. According to Assured Standard, their experts conducted meticulous market research to create the guide. One of the major findings in the new publication is the reasons why commercial trucking insurance is expensive. The guide primarily focuses on the types of coverage available to truckers. It also includes an analysis of some examples of policies that they may need to understand to provide a better understanding of how much trucking coverage they should get.

Since the launch of its site, Assured Standard has developed an extensive library of online resources that provides people with reviews, analyses, and guides, educating them about all the tools and knowledge needed to make informed decisions. This guide was developed as part of the company's regular research on commercial truck insurance solutions. "This article explores the complexities of commercial trucking insurance to help trucking businesses understand the different aspects and considerations that will determine the insurance coverage requirements," said Arthur Williamson, Chairman and CEO of Assured Standard. He believes in providing readers with all the information related to insurance so that businesses can protect themselves.

The site aims to assist people with their insurance queries. Assured Standard offers recommendations, information, advice, guides, aids, and practical tips on business insurance and trucking insurance. It also provides experts' insights about different types of coverage policies so that truckers and businesses can weigh the pros and cons of each policy before making an informed decision.

"When getting insurance, it's important to have all the different options available. With our resources, we take on all necessary research for crafting insurance policies. We analyze all the factors that need to be considered before making an informed decision about how much protection your company needs," said Williamson.
