In the latest blog post, the best Atlanta accident attorney explains the need for hiring the services of a skilled lawyer to get the rightful compensation.

?The thought of paying a personal injury lawyer is overwhelming to many people,? states Alexander Shunnarah, Founder, and CEO of Alexander Shunnarah Trial Attorneys. ?What you ultimately pay a personal injury lawyer depends on various factors, including whether a claim settles out of court, must be taken to court, or goes to trial.?

The #1 accident attorney, Alexander Shunnarah, gives victims hope when he says that personal injury lawyers are very affordable and work on a contingency basis. Additionally, an accident lawyer explains to victims how and why they charge for their services and any additional costs they may incur throughout a case. The total cost of a lawyer varies from one case to another, and the article outlines the common factors that must be taken into consideration to assess an attorney?s fee.

Alexander Shunnarah and his team of trial attorneys offer a free consultation to discuss the victim?s case. Victims are urged to quickly call a lawyer after a personal injury accident to ensure maximum compensation. The article urges victims to make the most of the consultation to evaluate whether the attorney is a right fit for their case, adding that they should not hesitate to ?interview? a lawyer to make sure they are worth fighting their claim.

Alexander Shunnarah advises Atlanta victims not to worry about paying legal fees upfront if they are working with a lawyer on a contingency fee basis as the settlement check will take care of these expenses. The attorney earns a percentage of the settlement for legal fees.

The article also highlights the advantage of contingency fee claims because it allows victims to focus on their recovery while the lawyer takes care of their settlement claim. Read the full article here: https://shunnarah.com/cost-to-hire-a-personal-injury-lawyer/

A personal injury case gets more expensive if it goes to the court, especially when insurance companies don?t cooperate. The corresponding blog post lists the types of costs incurred if the case goes to the court, adding that each attorney has a different approach to paying these expenses. Although many cases are settled outside of court, the Atlanta attorneys at Alexander Shunnarah Trial Attorneys will fight until they are sure the victim is fully compensated.

The article encourages accident victims to look for an experienced accident attorney to fight their compensation claim instead of choosing to represent themselves without professional legal help. Attorney Alexander Shunnarah warns that any mistake can undermine the success of a case. It becomes even more challenging if the case goes to court. The insurance company is more likely to be represented by a high-caliber, experienced lawyer specializing in fighting accident claims.

Without any legal understanding or experience, a victim cannot fight the claim on their own. An excellent personal injury attorney is skilled and experienced in handling the tactics of insurance companies to ensure their clients receive a fair settlement.
