Santa Clarita, California - April 13, 2022 -
Santa Clarita, California -- Defi-gamefi.com has released a report on the gamification of learning and making money online. Fans of using gamification believe that the traditional gaming industry is ripe for disruption by blockchain technology. They believe that by using blockchain, they can create a fairer and more transparent gaming ecosystem that benefits both developers and players.

The GameFi protocol utilises two token types: the GAME token and the FIAT token. The GAME token is used to stake and play games on the platform, while the FIAT token is used to redeem rewards. Players can earn rewards in FIAT tokens by playing games and staking their GAME token In its report or ?Gamefi? for short. trend that this making a few people rich but can cause huge financial lose for those newer to investing.

?Gamefication was first introduced to us as a way of making learning fun,? states Raul Meza, content director at Defi-gamefi.com. ?Course creators would create rewards, badges or levels that students could claim as they reached certain milestones. Today, in the Defi and gaming world we look at gamefi with a narrower definition. Today the word gamefi brings more thought of earning money or tokens as we play and advance.?

The report highlights what it believes to be a truer definition of gamefi. It describes it as the process of leveraging what makes games fun and exciting in order to shape behaviors with milestones. Gamification is the art of shaping behavior through certain goals, so that you can drive engagement in an otherwise boring experience. The report also provides a breakdown of a common reward system that helps to incentivize users. The breakdown consists of an activity rank, a reward rate and a reward level.
