Sorvita Nutra Products has announced the relaunch of their website onto the Shopify network. In order to better serve their clients, the company made the switch in order to provide a more satisfying online shopping experience to their customers.

The new site can be seen by visiting <http://www.sorvita.com>; here customers may decide to shop the large selections of products from the site, read interesting articles relating to the items being sold, and their uses, and also learn more about the company. Mike Alderfer of Sorvita has said the following in regards to their latest update:

"With the dramatic increase we have seen in mobile traffic over the last year, we felt it was time to move to a more robust shopping platform that could better support that experience for our customers. After a lot of testing and research we decided that Shopify was the best fit for us and we're really excited about the new website."

Although Sorvita Nutra Products provide an assortment of products for healthy living, some of the most successful items in their lineup include a variety of weight loss supplements which they offer through the company site. These particular supplements are said to improve mood and focus while giving the consumer a metabolism boost, which in turn increases weight loss potential.

The products are manufactured in FDA inspected GMP certified facilities and are all 100% guaranteed by the company, with consumers receiving a full refund if they are not completely satisfied with the product. With around the clock service, the company offer monthly specials to new and existing customers within the United States, along with free shipping on orders over $35.

The newly launched website enables consumers to use all of the same features available to them before with better navigation and access from mobile devices. All of the products are neatly listed and may be selected for further information and pricing. The mission of the company is to promote better living and healthier lifestyles by providing the highest quality of health and wellness products on the market.

Customer reviews and ratings are also available on the latest version of the website, giving new consumers the chance at discovering what others are saying about the products before purchasing for themselves. To date Sorvita is recognized as a company with high standards, excellent customer service, and a positive overall shopping experience to those who have interacted and shopped their products.

The company has expressed interest in further customer feedback, and encourages new users or those interested in the products to contact the company and speak to a representative today.
