Colourlock Comments On How Vintage Leather Remains In Fashion Needs Great Care In New Blog Post

London, UK, NOV 2, 2015 ? The increase in rail and sea travel caused an explosion in the popularity of fashionable luggage such as suitcases, dressing cases, and hat and shoe boxes. Eventually this led to the popularity of the leather handbag. In order to educate consumers about the care of leather, Colourlock (www.colourlock.com) has just published a new blog post entitled 'Cleaning, maintaining and restoring Leather Handbags DIY.'

The article discusses how ?leather handbags are expensive items, and that cleaning, restoring and maintaining these leather bags is extremely affordable and easy with the use of the Colourlock range of leather care and repair products.?

The article states that ?Colour damage caused by friction (denim is the usual culprit!), UV damage over time and regular wear can be refreshed and brought back to life,? that the ?majority of the enquiries they receive from customers are for water stains?, and that ?another common issue is ink and biro marks caused by a ball point pen.?

The article then relates how Colourlock has several leather cleaning kits for sale that can help keep up the leather care at an affordable rate. A discussion with one of their reps and a photo emailed in to them are all that is required to insure that the right leather treatment kit is provided to the customer making the inquiry.

Colourlock UK and Ireland provides trusted professional leather cleaning services for most leather items, especially furniture and automobile fittings. The company uses proprietary cleaning solutions that are gentle to leather but tough on stains.
