Okatie, SC - Nonna Rosa, an Italian Food Restaurant, has made it easy to enjoy an authentic Italian dining experience in the heart of Okatie, South Carolina.

The Okatie restaurant is proud of its delectable Italian cuisine to satisfy even the pickiest diners. Their food was crafted using recipes handed down from generation to generation, yet it still melts hearts at first bite.

Nonna Rosa Italian Restaurant originated many years ago in a little village named Pozzuoli on Italy's southern coast before Chef Peppe Gialone, the restaurant's executive chef and owner, brought it to SC. Chef Peppe says the restaurant is named after his grandmother, who motivated him to enjoy food and cook for others. The chef says the restaurant allows them to share the thrill of experiencing authentic Italian cuisine in a family setting without leaving SC.

The local Italian restaurant offers diners a comfortable and soothing atmosphere that transports them to a delightful dining experience in Italy. Nonna Rosa Italian Restaurant serves lunch and dinner and can cater to all occasions. They can provide anything from a post-work meal and beverages to a lengthy Sunday lunch, business dining, or an exclusive table for that special anniversary. In addition, their menu offers a diverse selection of delectable delicacies that are sure to satisfy any hunger.

Customers can check their web menu at https://nonnarosabluffton.com/ to make a reservation. They provide genuine Italian culinary offerings with a vast range of options. Nonna Rosa Italian Restaurant's Le Cozze - mussels in a delightful white wine sauce with cherry tomatoes or marinara sauce - is one of the outstanding meals that everyone should try. A famous Italian dish called Veal Saltimbocca is another chef specialty to try. It's created with pounded fresh veal loin, sautéed in a white wine browned butter sauce, and topped with prosciutto, spinach, and mozzarella.

Matriciana, their rendition of classic pasta, is also popular among Italian cuisine aficionados. Rigatoni pasta, garlic, capers, pancetta, and kalamata olives are combined in a thick marinara sauce. Of course, no Italian cuisine would be complete without their well-known dessert. The famous handmade tiramisu, prepared with Italian mascarpone cheese, imported ladyfingers, and espresso, is at the top of the list.

Nonna Rosa Italian Restaurant also features an extensive wine selection to round out a genuine Italian dining experience. They have wines from many Italian regions, including Tuscany, Lombardy, Sicily, and Veneto.
