April 25, 2022 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

London, ON ? As April flies by, spring is soon coming to a close, meaning it is almost summertime! For most people, summer brings a lot of fun, outdoor activities, and social gatherings. Because of the warmer weather and increased water use during the summer, a plumbing company in London, ON called Triton Plumbing + Services is taking a moment to remind homeowners to get their home?s plumbing ready for the summertime.

When it comes to plumbing, one of the best things for a homeowner to do as summer approaches is check their home for bursts or leaky pipes. Summertime is typically the most ideal time of year to replace or repair any part of the plumbing system because it is warm outside, and the plumber does not have to deal with any ice or frozen solid ground.

As strange as it sounds, getting water heaters inspected during summer is actually a really great idea! Hot water is used a lot more often in the summer than people would expect, sometimes even more so than during the winter. This is likely due to the increased showers that people take in the summer, as well as the increased dishwasher cycles that result from summer parties and social gatherings.

Lastly, it is important that sprinkler systems are inspected and good-to-go before the summer begins. Because the summer sun can dry out the lawn so quickly, it is important to make sure the sprinklers are in great condition so that they do not quit working right in the middle of summer. In addition, water bills typically increase during the summer as it is, so the last thing any homeowner wants is a sprinkler that is leaking underground.

For any inquiries regarding these three pre-summer plumbing tips, or for any repair services needed, Triton Plumbing + Services can help.

Since their beginning, Triton Plumbing + Services has sought to show their clients a ?different kind of plumber.?
