Top-Rated Franklin Car Accident Lawyer Explains Accident Settlements and Compensation

May 03, 2022

May 03, 2022 -
Franklin, Tenn. - Alexander Shunnarah Trial Attorneys, a leading and influential personal injury law firm, is among Franklin, Tennessee's top personal injury law firms. The law firm is focused on fighting for maximum compensation for its clients. As its slogan states, Alexander Shunnarah Trial Attorneys ?Go To War? for victims and their families after car accidents to ensure they receive justice and maximum compensation. Victims of accidents have the right to financial compensation, although car accident settlements can vary significantly based on the facts of the case.

?For many reasons, there is no average car accident settlement,? states Alexander Shunnarah, Founder and President of Alexander Shunnarah Trial Attorneys. ?Even if there were, the average car accident settlement wouldn?t be an indicator of how much money you will get in your accident settlement.?

Hiring an experienced car accident lawyer will help in getting the maximum compensation for a victim or their family. Additionally, a victim?s actions following an accident influence the compensation in a personal injury claim, including the decision to call the police immediately after an accident instead of handling everything independently without calling law enforcement. This Do-It-Yourself approach to handling an accident claim could cost a victim thousands of dollars of financial compensation.

The personal injury law firm stresses the importance of documenting all accident-related damages and gathering personal details, including the insurance information of all drivers involved. Medical bills, receipts for car repair, estimated costs for continued care, lost wages, and other financial losses must be added to the list of important documents to calculate damages. These documents play a great role in determining the victim?s compensation claim in a personal injury settlement.

According to Attorney Alexander Shunnarah, ?You should receive your settlement check within thirty days of signing the Settlement Release Agreement and sending it back to your insurance adjuster.? There is no one-size-fits-all when it comes to settling a compensation claim. The settlement amount, as well as the duration, varies from case to case. Cases involving minors or a wrongful death claim can take much longer because a court hearing must be held to approve the judge?s settlement.

After the crash, accident victims should act quickly to get the most deserving compensation claim. Any victim looking for an experienced and skilled car accident lawyer to represent their case can call Alexander Shunnarah Trial Attorneys. Working with an experienced attorney can be a game-changer and help a victim win their car accident lawsuit against the negligent driver with minimal distress.

The skilled car accident attorneys on the Alexander Shunnarah Trial Attorneys? team are experienced in fighting for a settlement for the victim without letting the insurance company push the victim around. Alexander Shunnarah Trial Attorneys is well-known across the United States for their fight and commitment for the victim?s rights in earning a reasonable settlement.

Top car accident lawyers in Franklin, Tennessee are available to discuss the victim?s case. Schedule a free consultation with Alexander Shunnarah Trial Attorneys today.

"description": "Combine an entrepreneurial spirit with a love for the everyday person and you have an attorney who looks to provide fairness through justice. Alexander Shunnarah, founder and president of Alexander Shunnarah Injury Lawyers, P.C. (ASILPC), realizes that the legal industry is not one size fits all as he looks to provide clients with the resources to level the playing field and achieve fair compensation from their Goliath opponents. Prior to pursuing his career in the legal industry, Alexander and his father experimented with several different business ventures, learning valuable lessons in marketing, leadership and the overall struggles of business operations along the way. Alexander used this knowledge to create a firm brand that resonates with potential clients and motivates his attorneys to believe in the overall mission of ASILPC. When starting his firm in 2001, Alexander went against the grain to develop a marketing strategy that has grown his company to reach and practice across Alabama and recently expanding to Florida, Mississippi and Georgia. A passion for people, Alexander has an unwavering belief in the fairness and justice that our country offers. While he was born and raised in Birmingham, his parents risked everything they had bringing his family to the United States to take advantage of the American Dream. Being an attorney allows him to safeguard these freedoms, from economic and political freedoms to cultural and religious liberties. By offering his clients with the legal knowledge to achieve maximum recovery of their injuries, Alexander is providing them the rights and privileges that should be afforded to all Americans. By providing financial resources, a fully supportive infrastructure and commitment to ethics, Alexander has built a dedicated team of to legal professionals and staff that work in a congenial and cooperative environment to achieve these goals. Each attorney has an unshakeable belief in the mission of ASTAPC and providing their clients with unsurpassed legal council. As ASTAPC continues to work to provide maximum compensation for each of their clients, they look to grow beyond the four-state practice. Alexander envisions his firm becoming a regional personal injury law firm that can plant their brand anywhere and provide successful results for individuals in that community. Currently, Alexander resides in Vestavia with his wife and three daughters. He is actively involved with Church of the Highlands.",

Determining Fault Collecting Evidence Negotiation With Insurance Company Get You Compensation Determining Fault This stage is critical since the compensation will be paid by the at-fault party’s insurance carrier. To identify who was at fault, an experienced vehicle accident lawyer will examine the accident report, police statement, and images. If necessary, they have access to resources such as accident recreation experts that can assist in determining who was the negligent driver. Collecting Evidence Personal injury lawsuits are filed to compensate victims for both financial and emotional losses. All medical records, repair expenses, missed earnings, and other economic damages can be tracked and collected by the auto accident attorney. They can also figure out how much pain and suffering, loss of enjoyment, and other non-economic losses should be compensated for. They will also be able to establish the policy limits of the auto insurance carrier so that they can navigate the compensation process. Negotiation With Insurance Company Insurance companies frequently contact accident victims after an accident and offer them a rapid compensation. Although you may be tempted, it is in your best interests to decline. A skilled personal injury lawyer can work with insurance adjusters and, if necessary, take them to court. This is your best opportunity at getting the most money possible. Get You Compensation A car accident lawyer will be able to show the insurance adjuster or company that you are entitled to financial recompense once they have acquired all of the required information. With the help of an attorney, you will be able to obtain the most compensation for your automobile accident injuries. Timing Is Critical! Don’t Delay Hiring An Attorney! Although most states have a 2-year window for car accident cases, the sooner you call the better. Hiring an attorney right away means the evidence is easier to gather, all medical needs are covered, and you get maximum compensation. With a free consultation, there is NO RISK IN Calling today! the best!!!!!! Thank you for all your help!!!! Previous Next What Can I Be Compensated For After A Car Accident? After an automobile accident, you may be entitled to three types of compensation: special damages, general damages, and punitive damages. Special Damages: These are monetary damages that are easy to quantify since they have specified dollar quantities. These include: Medical bills, property damage, missed pay, and loss of earning potential General Damages: These are non-monetary sums, making them are more difficult to define. General Damages include: Pain and suffering, mental anguish, loss of enjoyment, loss of consortium, and bodily disfigurement or impairment Punitive Damages: If the at-fault diver’s negligence is severe, such as driving while intoxicated, the judge can add punitive damages to the settlement. This form of damage is intended to make the negligent motorist pay for their actions. It is compensation that can be added to the settlement.car accident occurs in geo city Frequently Asked Questions for Car Accident Lawyers As experienced Franklin Car Accident Lawyers, we have compiled a list of frequently asked questions. Every car accident case is different. Contact our team today for a free consultation to discuss your case and see how much compensation you are entitled to. What Should I Do After A Car Accident? Assume you’re driving through Franklin and are suddenly struck by another vehicle. What should you do next? Following an accident, the next few measures you take could make a big difference in your personal injury case. Here are the following steps you should take to make sure you are able to get maximum compensation for your accident. Make sure that there are no injuries. Examine yourself and any other passengers for significant or life-threatening injuries. If there are any serious injuries, call 911 as soon as possible for an ambulance. Make your way to a secure area. If you were in a minor car accident and your vehicle is still drivable, move your vehicle to the shoulder to avoid being hit. If at all possible, take pictures of the cars before relocating them, as this may be important proof. Make a police report. If you haven’t already done so, now is the moment to call the cops. Having authorities on the scene is crucial, even if there were just minor injuries or none at all. The police report will be required by the insurance company and attorney in order to file an automobile accident claim. Obtain the other driver’s contact information, including their name, address, driver’s license number, and insurance information. Also, get information from any other individuals involved, such as passengers and bystanders. While exchanging information, do not concede any culpability, as this could be used against you in a lawsuit. Do not apologize to the other driver because this could be interpreted as an admission of guilt. Collect evidence. Your vehicle accident case will require evidence. Collect as much proof as you can. Take photos of the accident scene, including the vehicle damage, visible injuries, the surrounding area, tire marks, road signs, and anything else that might be of interest. If at all possible, record the crash scenario on camera. If anyone saw the accident, take witness accounts. Seek medical advice. Even if you don’t think you’ve been hurt, it’s a good idea to get checked out by a doctor. Because some injuries, such as whiplash, may not manifest themselves immediately, prompt medical treatment is critical. Whiplash can take anything from a few hours to a few days to manifest itself as discomfort. You must prove that the injuries were caused directly by the car accident in order to claim financial compensation for your medical expenditures. Make a phone call to a lawyer who specializes in car accidents. An expert attorney is the best person to file your personal injury claim to. When you engage a car accident lawyer in Franklin, you can trust them to manage the difficult legal paperwork as well as the negligent driver’s insurance company. You can concentrate on your recuperation while your personal injury lawyer works hard to obtain you a reasonable payment. During the initial consultation, the attorneys of Alexander Shunnarah provide free legal assistance. How Much Are Typical Car Accident Cases Worth? Because car accidents are different, there is a big range for the average settlement. According to the Insurance Information Institute car accident settlements range between $4,000-$80,000, with the national average at $20,235 for 2020. So, how much is your car accident worth? The best way to find out is to get a legal consultation by a skilled car accident lawyer in Franklin. How Long Does It Take To Get A Car Accident Settlement? For all personal injury lawsuits, this is a difficult topic to answer because it is highly dependent on the details of the accident. First and foremost, how long did it take you to file your personal injury lawsuit? Accident claims are subject to a time limit, or statute of limitations. Obtaining legal counsel as soon as possible is the best method to ensure that you receive compensation. Second, how bad were the injuries and accident? As a result, the timeline may vary significantly. It may be over fast if the injuries were small and all that was needed was to pay for property damage and medical fees. However, if there were serious injuries or the collision was fatal, it could take longer. When a car accident claim involves serious injuries, the case must account for ongoing medical bills, lost wages, pain and suffering, and loss of consortium, among other things. Will I Have To Go To Court For My Accident? In fact, the vast majority of vehicle accident claims are settled out of court. Car accident lawyers have a track record of obtaining the other driver’s insurance company to compensate accident victims fairly. When other insurance companies fail to negotiate a reasonable settlement, the issue may need to go to court. If it’s in the best interests of the automobile accident victims, an expert attorney would be willing to take the matter to trial. Are Accidents With Fatal Injuries Handled Differently? Car accidents that result in death affect the personal injury case slightly. Wrongful death damages would now be included. The following are examples of damages caused by a tragic car accident: Economic Damages: Medical bills, funeral costs, burial charges, future economic support, and so on. Non-economic damages: Loss of companionship, loss of consortium, and other non-economic damages Punitive Damages: Additional compensation in the event that the accident was caused by gross negligence. Punitive damages may be levied to intoxicated drivers who cause road fatalities, for example. What Are The Most Common Causes of Car Accidents in Franklin? Anyone, at any time, can be involved in a car accident. The following are a few of the most common causes of car accidents caused by negligence: Driving While Distracted Erratic Driving Driving Aggressively Drunk Driving Fatigued Driving How Much Does A Car Accident Lawyer Cost in Franklin? A personal injury lawyer is the type of lawyer you need after a vehicle accident. The majority of personal injury law companies work on a contingency fee basis. This means there are no upfront costs and no out-of-pocket charges. Personal injury lawyers understand how stressful it is to be involved in a car accident. You’ve been hurt and are attempting to recuperate, you may be out of job, and you’re emotionally exhausted. This is not the time to get buried with legal bills. This is why they operate on a contingency basis. While your attorney works to secure you financial recompense, you may focus on healing and getting back to work. After a settlement is reached, legal fees will be deducted as a percentage of the total. There’s no risk in calling right now because there’s no charge for the initial consultation! Do I Have To Hire A Car Accident Lawyer In

Franklin? After an accident, you do not need to engage a lawyer. You are capable of handling your own vehicle accident claim. You may, however, make costly errors. "text": "In fact, the vast majority of vehicle accident claims are settled out of court. Car accident lawyers have a track record of obtaining the other driver’s insurance company to compensate accident victims fairly. When other insurance companies fail to negotiate a reasonable settlement, the issue may need to go to court. If it’s in the best interests of the automobile accident victims, an expert attorney would be willing to take the matter to trial.", costs and no out-of-pocket charges. Personal injury lawyers understand how stressful it is to be involved in a car accident. You’ve been hurt and are attempting to recuperate, you may be out of job, and you’re emotionally exhausted. This is not the time to get buried with legal bills. This is why they operate on a contingency basis. While your attorney works to secure you financial recompense, you may focus on healing and getting back to work. After a settlement is reached, legal fees will be deducted as a percentage of the total. There’s no risk in calling right now because there’s no charge for the initial consultation!",

"text": "Assume you’re driving through Franklin and are suddenly struck by another vehicle. What should you do next? Following an accident, the next few measures you take could make a big difference in your personal injury case. Here are the following steps you should take to make sure you are able to get maximum compensation for your accident. Make sure that there are no injuries. Examine yourself and any other passengers for significant or life-threatening injuries. If there are any serious injuries, call 911 as soon as possible for an ambulance. Make your way to a secure area. If you were in a minor car accident and your vehicle is still drivable, move your vehicle to the shoulder to avoid being hit. If at all possible, take pictures of the cars before relocating them, as this may be important proof. Make a police report. If you haven’t already done so, now is the moment to call the cops. Having authorities on the scene is crucial, even if there were just minor injuries or none at all. The police report will be required by the insurance company and attorney in order to file an automobile accident claim. Obtain the other driver’s contact information, including their name, address, driver’s license number, and insurance information. Also, get information from any other individuals involved, such as passengers and bystanders. While exchanging information, do not concede any culpability, as this could be used against you in a lawsuit. Do not apologize to the other driver because this could be interpreted as an admission of guilt. Collect evidence. Your vehicle accident case will require evidence. Collect as much proof as you can. Take photos of the accident scene, including the vehicle damage, visible injuries, the surrounding area, tire marks, road signs, and anything else that might be of interest. If at all possible, record the crash scenario on camera. If anyone saw the accident, take witness accounts. Seek medical advice. Even if you don’t think you’ve been hurt, it’s a good idea to get checked out by a doctor. Because some injuries, such as whiplash, may not manifest themselves immediately, prompt medical treatment is critical. Whiplash can take anything from a few hours to a few days to manifest itself as discomfort. You must prove that the injuries were caused directly by the car accident in order to claim financial compensation for your medical expenditures. Make a phone call to a lawyer who specializes in car accidents. An expert attorney is the best person to file your personal injury claim to. When you engage a car accident lawyer in Franklin, you can trust them to manage the difficult legal paperwork as well as the negligent driver’s insurance company. You can concentrate on your recuperation while your personal injury lawyer works hard to obtain you a reasonable payment. During the initial consultation, the attorneys of Alexander Shunnarah provide free legal assistance.",
