May 03, 2022

Atlanta, Georgia - May 03, 2022 -
The Mabra Law Firm has posted a new blog post entitled, ?What Should You Do After A Motorcycle Accident.? The Atlanta personal injury law firm outlines the fact that motorcycle accidents happen about 27 times more often than passenger car accidents, posing a serious threat of injury or death for the motorcycle rider due to little or no protection. The blog post can be read here: https://mabrafirm.com/what-should-you-do-after-a-motorcycle-accident.

The blog post explains that a victim of a motorcycle accident is faced with physical injuries and emotional trauma, resulting in a state of anger and confusion. The Atlanta motorcycle accident law firm suggests a few steps for victims to take in the aftermath of the accident. The first step to take after an accident is to ensure everyone?s safety and call an ambulance if someone is hurt. The Mabra Firm's lawyers suggest those involved in a motorcycle accident to make sure that everyone is at a safe distance from the collision and out of the way of traffic.

The next step is to get necessary medical treatment for the health and overall well-being of those involved in the accident. The best personal injury law firm emphasizes the need for timely medical care to prove injuries and damages, warning that any gaps and delays in motorcycle accident treatment in Atlanta could give insurance companies a chance to challenge the victim?s injuries. The blog post explains that seeing a doctor right away will help the victim prove their accident injuries.

Another important step for victims of a motorcycle accident is to call the police to the scene. A police report is a crucial piece of evidence in a personal injury claim. The Atlanta personal injury law firm emphasizes the need to exchange contact information with the other driver, information from witnesses, responding officers and emergency personnel, or anyone else who comes on the scene and assists in the accident.

The Mabra Firm's personal injury lawyers in Atlanta agree that pictures are more reliable than a first-hand account of the accident. Quality photographs can provide valuable clues and information that can help the insurance adjuster and investigators determine liability in the accident. The blog post advises victims to take pictures of the damage to the motorcycle and other vehicles involved in the accident. The attorneys also suggest taking photos of any visible physical injuries suffered at the scene of the accident in addition to other supporting evidence, such as skid marks, poor road condition, and vehicle license plates.

Another important piece of advice for victims is to keep the bike in the condition it was in at the time of the wreck if the other driver disputes fault. Ronnie Mabra, the leading accident injury attorney in Atlanta, advises victims, ?At the very least, take several pictures of the bike that will show the condition it was in. You need to do as much as you can to ensure you receive a fair settlement.?

The Mabra Law Firm is the best motorcycle accident law firm in Atlanta, with a proven track record of helping accident victims get the highest compensation claim against the at-fault driver and insurance companies. The motorcycle accident law firm cautions victims against accepting an early settlement offer as they are more likely to be lowball offers. The Mabra Firm states that an insurance provider will take every measure to reduce the amount of compensation for an accident victim.

Ronnie Mabra states, ?Your insurance carrier wants to offer you a lump sum of money right away, hoping that you will accept it and the case will be closed. However, this offer is usually much lower than what you actually deserve.?

The best Atlanta personal injury attorney advises victims not to accept the first offer from the insurance company and instead use it as a starting point for negotiations with an experienced accident injury lawyer. An experienced motorcycle accident attorney is better able to negotiate a higher settlement for the victim. The Mabra Law Firm has many years of experience in fighting compensation claims for accident victims injured in a motorcycle crash.
