Chicagoland Fireplace and Chimney Restoration Introduces New Chimney Cap Repair Services

May 09, 2022

May 09, 2022 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

Chimneys are only safe when all their parts are working accordingly. This is why experts recommend a chimney assessment after a certain period of use. Chicagoland Fireplace and Chimney Restoration always provide safety checks to make sure that chimneys are safe and that poisonous gases are not finding their way back into the house. This is why they provide chimney repair services in Chicagoland.

Recently, the company has announced that they will now be providing chimney cap repair services. According to the company, "The chimney cap is on the top of the chimney and seals the top opening, preventing wetness and loose rainwater from entering, which can cause deterioration. Frequently chimney caps are improperly constructed or can deteriorate. Whether the chimney cap in question includes working with concrete, brick, and mortar, or rock, we have the expertise necessary to provide a lasting solution."

The company has also improved its website to make sure that people looking for chimney repair services or fireplace restoration services in Chicagoland can easily get more information about the services they are in need of. Customers can call the company and talk to a chimney or fireplace expert about the services the company provides and have their questions answered.
