

Crypto Trading Robot Investment Strategy Is Perfect For Those Scared To Put Money In Crypto

May 16, 2022

May 16, 2022 - PRESSADVANTAGE -

An experienced internet marketer, and crypto investor is allaying the fears of those hesitant about investing in Bitcoin and other cryptocurrencies, especially following the events of the last few weeks where most major tokens have seen a rapid selloff leading to a steep fall in prices. He is urging those affected by the recent fall in prices to find out more about his new crypto trading bot which is built to be resistant to fluctuations in the crypto market.

The crypto landscape has been going through significant upheaval for the last few weeks. With the price of Bitcoin falling to as low as $26,970, the cryptocurrency wiped away all the gains that it had made over 2021 and reached the level that it was at the end of 2020. The current price of Bitcoin is a far cry from its high of almost $69,000 which it had reached during trading in November 2021. To add to the fears that this dramatic fall in prices is part of a broader crypto crash, LUNA, Terra Blockchain's native token, was trading at just a few cents, a fraction of its highest peak price of $118 that it had scaled just a month ago. The fall was so spectacular that it wiped away almost all of its investors' wealth. The reason behind the fall in LUNA's price was attributed to its sister token UST, a 'stablecoin', being de-pegged from its value of $1. Even the price of Ethereum, the world's second-largest cryptocurrency, reached its lowest point since July 2021.

The expert comments on the current uncertainty in the crypto market and how it might affect someone's perspective on investment by saying, "We have seen a major correction in the last few days. This was bound to happen. Bitcoin is still in its infancy when it comes to worldwide adoption and it is natural for the market to fall back down to reasonable levels from time to time. If you had holdings in crypto, you might have seen them reduce in value significantly over the last few weeks. For some of you, this experience might have even compelled you to give up crypto-trading for good. However, I want to urge you to reconsider and look at the bigger picture. I would recommend that instead of giving up on this golden opportunity, you should reconsider your investment strategy. I strongly believe that this is just a temporary hitch and prices should return to pre-2022 levels soon. However, this crash should indeed be a wake-up call for those who are investing in crypto using outdated strategies that expose them to the worst market forces."

When asked to explain the mechanism behind his new crypto trading bot, the expert says, "What you need is an investment strategy that assumes that the crypto market is volatile by design and takes advantage of this volatility to lock in profits regardless of whether the market goes up or down. Through years of research and by staking hundreds of thousands of my own hard-earned dollars I've perfected the ideal trading strategy and made it available for my students in the form of a crypto-trading bot. The trading robot will scan markets and look for the best trades 24 hours a day, 7 days a week while you relax and watch steady gains come in month after month. My students from all over the world are already making thousands of dollars per month using my crypto trading bot. Setting up and using the bot doesn't require programming know-how or any deep knowledge of the crypto markets. You can set it up in 15 minutes and let it work in the background to make you passive income. The crypto trading bot will exploit micro-fluctuations in several markets to make hundreds of tiny, profitable trades every single day. Sign up today to watch a free webinar and find out more about how you can use the power of this crypto trading strategy to attain financial freedom and live the life you've always dreamt of."
